U. S. Gives Warning About Germ Warfare

Murray Criticizes Sawyer, Says His Actions Biased

Steelworkers' Leader Says Union Is Ready to Bargain, Calls Upon Industry to Set Meeting Date 'Promptly'-Reads Letter

Philadelphia, May 17 (AP)—Philip Murray, still seeking a wage increase for his steelworkers after five months of negotiations, has lashed out critically at the boss of the federal-seized steel mills, calling the secretary of commerce biased and no friend of the CIO Union.

The president of the CIO-United Steelkorkers said yesterday that Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer had exhibited an "unthinkable degree of bias" in operating America's basic steel mills under orders of President Truman.

The charge came as the four-day sixth (biennial) constitutional convention came to a close.

But as Murray criticized Sawyer he hoisted aloft a tiny smoke signal for steel labor peace, urging officials of the industry to call a meeting "promptly" and "to bargain out agreements based on the Wage Stabilization recommendations."

Murray, sometimes shouting and shaking his fist, insisted again that the union is ready—and always has been ready—to bargain with the industry.

Based on Letter

The convention-ending harangue was based on a letter Sawyer wrote to Murray, and which the commerce secretary suggested might be read to the 2,500 delegates representing the 1,100,000 steelworkers.

And read it Murray did, waving it at his stunned audience, and calling the letter "nonsensical" and "an insult" to the union.

Sawyer wrote that though most of the steelworkers had preserved steel mill equipment during the recent three-day strike "this protection was not universal."

Murray flatly denied this charge, declared that it was union policy during any walkout to close down plants in orderly manner without any damage.

"The implication here," said Murray as he held Sawyer's letter, "is designed to show that the steelworkers will not protect property."

"That's untrue," Murray shouted, "and Sawyer knew it should have instructed the steel companies to make sure that the mills were being properly shut down."

Information Contained

Sawyer's letter said "production reports * * * from the steel companies * * * have contained information regarding sporadic damage in connection with the shutdown of April 29 by reason of the lack of necessary standby arrangements to safeguard equipment when the men left the plants."

Murray said if their were any damaged mills it was the companies' fault "because we found it exteremely difficult to work out agreements, especially with the major firms, for the standby workers, the number and quality of them, needed to protect property."

Before Murray gaveled the convention to a close with his blast, the delegates in a noisy verbal demonstration voted to raise monthly dues from $2 to $3 and boost initiation fee from $3 to $5.

Eisenhower Polls Huge Oregon Lead, So Does Kefauver

General Stands to Gain 10 Delegates; Taft Not Entered in Contest

Portland, Ore., May 17 (AP)—Mounting returns early today magnified a smashing triumph for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in his primary election bid for Oregon's 18 Republican delegates.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, of Tennessee, on the basis of results from yesterday's heavy-voting popularity poll, grabbed an equally huge lead that assured him 12 Democratic delegates.

Eisenhower, 6,000 miles away from the Oregon campaign, stands to gain 10 delegates pledged to the winner of the preferential election. And his supporters were ahead in contests with eight uninstructed delegate-candidates to point toward a possible clean sweep.

Taft Not Entered

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio did not enter the contest. Eight uninstructed candidates for delegate to the Republican National Convention are generally believed to be supporters of the Ohioan. Three have announced for him. Write-in votes for Taft were slow coming in.

Many counting boards pushed them aside until ballot candidates' votes were cleared.

The count from 970 of the state's 2,269 precincts gave Eisenhower a roaring ovation as the favorite of Oregon Republicans. It climbed dizzily to 45,351 as against 10,399 for the nearest rival, Gov. Earl Warren of California.

Unwanted Votes

The same precincts brought a rewarding 32,955 total for Kefauver who went out and shook hands with Oregon Democrats even though he faced competition only from two unwilling candidates. Justice William O. Douglas, with Oregon roots, got 6,566 votes he said he didn't want. Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson drew 4,877 after a similar don't-support-me plea.

Here's the count for all six GOP

Would Refuse Any Dixie Compromise

McMahon Joins Humphrey in Demand on Civil Rights Issue

Washington, May 17 (AP)—Sen. Brien McMahon, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, joined Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey today in demanding the party refuse to compromise with the south on the explosive civil rights issue.

In speeches prepared for the convention of Americans for Democratic Action (ADA), McMahon of Connecticut and Humphrey of Minnesota called for a renewed party pledge to put into effect President Truman's program on that matter. And McMahon urged that the Democratic platform this year recommend a change in Senate rules to make it easier to quash filibusters against civil rights legislation.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, also a candidate for top place on the Democratic ticket, made no specific mention of civil rights in his prepared address to the convention. He said, however, "we must make this country an ever better place to live in for all our people—Negroes and whites, native-born and foreign-born, city folks and farm folks, of every race, creed and color."

Against FEPC

Kefauver has said he is against creation of a Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) with enforcement authority in hiring and firing discrimination

Lesion Is Removed

New York, May 17 (AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., 78-year-old multimillionaire, was operated on yesterday for a growth on the back of the neck. He is expected to leave New York Hospital over the weekend. His surgeon, Dr. Frank Glenn, said "a benign lesion was removed from the back of the neck of Mr. Rockefeller under local anethesia."

New York Must Show Validity of Auto Tax

New York, May 17 (AP)—The city has been ordered to show why its newly enacted $5 and $10 use tax on cars and trucks should not be declared unconstitutional.

State Supreme Court Justice Ernest E. L. Hammer issued the show cause order yesterday in twin suits brought by an individual car owner and a truckers association.

The suits sought a temporary injunction to keep the city from collecting the taxes, saying the city had no right to "supercede contracts" between motorists and the state. By contracts, the suits referred to licenses that motorists buy.

Several Hundred Attend Reunion Events for Classes

First Mass Assembly Finds Interest Among Many Former School Students

Since graduating from Kingston's four academic institutions of learning, graduates have scattered in all directions and many have attained high position but distance and position were both put aside Friday when several hundred "old grads" assembled to attend the first mass reunion ever to be held by the classes of the old academies and Kingston High School.

Reunion headquarters were at the Governor Clinton Hotel where a reception of members was held at noon, followed by several luncheons and dinner parties prior to the groups moving to municipal stadium to attend the annual May Day exercises of Kingston High School.

Numerous Parties Held

Throughout the afternoon and evening there were numerous luncheons, parties and receptions held at hotels and in private homes as members of classes gathered to renew acquaintances.

The youngsters, members of the classes of 1930 through 1935 held an informal gathering at The Barn during the evening.

In charge of the reunion was Clarence S. Rowland, president of the Kingston Board of Education, as general chairman; Eugene B. Carey, former mayor of Kingston, was chairman of the Ulster Academy groups; John M. Cashin, county judge, was chairman of the Kingston Academy groups; Dr. Arthur Cragin, was chairman of the Ponckhockie Academy classes and Bertrand Bishop was chairman of the Kingston High School classes.

Old graduates began arriving in Kingston from distant points Thursday and several social gathings were held that evening in their honor. The general registration was at the Governor Clinton Hotel Friday where a booth in charge of Kingston High School students was the center of activities.

Lobby Is Crowded

So crowded was the lobby, dining rooms and lounge of the hotel that at noon it was difficult for class members to locate their classmates and get any semblance of class unity. Several of the chairmen in charge of contacting members of their class had arranged dinner parties, others held luncheons later and in several instances the visitors were house guests in the afternoon and evening.

The general consensus was that the mass class reunion, which started out with the hope of having a few old graduates return to Kingston on May Day and participate in the 300th anniversary of the founding of the city which is being observed this year, had turned out to be one of the most successful events of the year.

Not only did the graduates of

Newsprint Hike Will Cost U.S. Publishers 50 Millions

New York, May 17 (AP)—Faced with another $10-a-ton boost in the price of Canadian newsprint—the second such increase in less than a year—American newspaper publishers find themselves in an increasingly difficult cost squeeze in getting out your daily paper.

The latest increase—it's scheduled to take effect June 15—is expected to add more than 50 million dollars a year to costs of publishing in this country.

Newsprint, the paper that newspapers are printed on, accounts for up to 50 per cent of the expense of getting out a big metropolitan daily. Figuring in the new $10 increase, the price of newsprint since V-J Day has climbed 152 per cent. It has gone up more than 200 per cent since the great depression.

Some publishers predict that the higher costs will inevitably lead to further increases in advertising and subscription rates—already near or past the saturation point, in the opinion of many.

Others say the steady trend toward fewer and larger newspapers toward mergers and consolidations, will gather new force. Expectations are that an increasing number of newspapers may be put out of business.

The Truman administration immediately asked the Canadian government to reconsider and rescind its approval of the price hike.

Price Director Ellis Arnall, in a telegram to C. D. Howe, Canadian minister of defense production, said 749 American daily newspapers have disappeared within the past 20 years through consolidations, mergers and failures.

If newsprint prices continue to rise, Arnall said, the trend will continue and—in the end—the Canadian newsprint industry itself would ultimately be injured.

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D.-Colo.), chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, suggested a study to determine whether the U. S. "should retaliate by upping the price of sulphur, which these newsprint producers must get from us."

President Cites Needs For Defense

Says He Has Labored Seven Years for Peace, to Avoid War

Washington, May 17 (AP)—President Truman confronted Congress today with a demand that it vote every dollar the administration has asked for defense, lest the mobilization program falter and the nation be plunged into World War 3.

"To win the cold war Congress must give what we ask," the President told a national Armed Forces Day dinner here last night.

He branded as "poppycock" the argument that defense spending will bring on national bankruptcy. He said the only citizens who have suffered in the defense effort so far are the men fighting in the Korean war and their families.

"You must not do anything that will cause those men to get shot in the back," Truman said.

The President spoke briefly and extemporaneously at the dinner after Secretary of State Acheson had delivered a full-dress speech on the theme that only the combined efforts of the United States and its allies can prevent Russia from "engulfing the world."

Both men stressed their belief in the need for increased American military strength.

Theme of Peace Repeated

The power which this country has generated so far in its defense drive, Truman said, has made "the path of an aggressor * * * much more difficult, and that means that the chances of a third world war are just that much less."

He said he had worked for more than seven years to prevent a third world war and establish peace "and I believe we are on the verge of success in what we started out to do."

But he argued this could all be upset if the mobilization program which he said has gained tremendous momentum should now be damaged for reasons of political expediency by men "in and out of Congress who played petty politics and hamper our efforts."

"If the defense effort is not carried forward on an orderly basis," the President declared, "it just won't work and we will step right into World War III. And it can't be carried forward on an orderly basis without the necessary appropriations we need."

Has Not Yet Acted

The Senate has not yet acted on the defense appropriation bill the President referred to, but the House last month cut the total sharply.

The President asked for $52,921,022,770 for the 12 months beginning July 1. The House cut this to $46,207,177,554, a 9.2 per cent reduction.

Although the administration protested the cut in new money voted, major criticism centered around a House provision which would limit military spending for the year to 46 billions, regardless of whether it was financed by the new funds or money already on hand.

The Pentagon had planned to spend about 52½ billions during the fiscal year, and has an accumuated backlog of unspent funds of about 58 billion to help finance the program.

Under the House provision, however, it could only spend 46 billions.

400,000 Go on Review

Frankfurt, Germany, May 17 (AP)—Nearly 400,000 American fighting men went on review today in Armed Forces Day exercises from the North Sea to the Mediterranean — and even 100 miles behind the Soviet lines in West Berlin. It was the greatest exhibition of U. S. military strength on this continent since World War 2.

Permission Is Granted

New York, May 17 (AP)—The regional office of the Wage Stabilization Board yesterday granted permission for an eight cents hourly wage rise to 1,270 employes of the Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corporation in Farmingdale and Valley Stream. Permission also was given for 2½ cent hourly boosts to 2,110 Otis Elevator Company workers in Yonkers.

Bill Is Killed

Manila, May 17 (AP)—The anti-administration Senate last night killed a bill it said would have had the affect of halting foreign newsmen from criticizing the government under penalty of deportation. Senator Claro M. Reco of the Nacionalista party said the proposed amendment to immigration laws abridged the right of a free press and free speech.

Reds Told Final Effort Put Forth For Korean Truce

UN Patrol Kills 27 Enemy During Pre-Dawn Attack

13 Reds Also Wounded in Battle for Hill Near Truce Site; Planes Busy

Seoul, Korea, May 17 (AP)—An allied patrol, using bayonets and small arms fire, today stormed a Red-held hill on the western Korea front, killing 27 Communists and wounding 13.

The pre-dawn fight took place northwest of the Panmunjom truce site, an Eighth Army communique said. Both sides rushed in reinforcements during the scrap which broke off at 4:40 a. m.

Artillery aided the attack by knocking out two Red mortar positions.

For the fourth straight morning, a United Nations tank-infantry patrol raided Communist lines on the central front in the Kumhwa area. The Eighth Army said tank fire knocked out snipers and a machine gun.

Allied patrols on the eastern front fought brief engagements with Red patrols in the early morning hours.

Supply Lines Blasted

The air force said its warplanes flew 1,030 sorties. Pilot claims included 25 Red guns silenced, 40 troop bunkers destroyed, 55 buildings and 65 vehicles destroyed, four bridges damaged, one boat sunk, and 110 rail cuts.

Navy pilots from the American carriers Boxer and Philippine Sea said they cut Red rail lines in northeast Korea in 177 places, destroyed three rail bridges, blew up 18 supply buildings, two rail cars and 10 trucks.

Allied destroyers off the west coast pounded Red guns, troops and supply buildings on the Ongjin Peninsula.

In Tokyo, the Far East Air force announced that Lt. Gen. Frank F. Everest, commander of the Fifth Air Force, will be relieved May 19 by Brig. Gen. Glenn O. Barcus, now deputy commander of the tactical air command in the United States.

Everest will take over the TAC deputy command. Everest has commanded the allied air war in Korea the past year. During this period there has been a constant build-up of Red air strength and anti-aircraft fire.

14 Allied Craft Lost

The Fifth Air Force announced that the allies lost 14 planes in combat the past week. One U. S. Sabre jet was knocked out in an air fight. Eleven UN planes were shot down by ground fire. Two more were lost to unknown causes.

During the same period, the Fifth added, allied jets destroyed eight Red planes, probably destroyed two others, and damaged eight.

Joy Issues Blunt Statement, Asks Reds to View Behavior

Munsan, Korea, May 17 (AP)—United Nations truce negotiators told the Reds today the UN command has made its "final negotiatory effort" and suggested the Reds re-evaluate their behavior in the "tragic situation you are creating."

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, senior allied delegate, bluntly declared in today's 50-minute session at Panmunjom:

"We have made our final negotiatory effort in the interest of an early armistice. We will not consider further concessions or counter-proposals."

The issue of how to exchange prisoners of war blocks an armistice.

Will Never Agree

North Korean Gen. Nam Il declared the Reds will never agree to the allied over-all proposal of April 28. It calls for return of only those Communist prisoners who are willing to go back to Communist-held territory.

Fewer than half the 169,000 captured Reds and internees have expressed willingness to go back. Allied screening of prisoners showed this fact.

At Communist insistence, the armistice negotiators will meet again tomorrow at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. Saturday EST).

Joy reviewed the allied offer of April 28. In it the allies offered to withdraw their objections to rehabilitation of Red airfields if the Reds withdraw the nomination of Soviet Russia as a neutral observer during an armistice and insisted on voluntary repatriation of prisoners.

To Avoid Misunderstanding

Joy told newsmen he made the review "in order that there might be no misunderstanding."

"In return, we got the usual propaganda blast accusing us of maltreating their (Red) prisoners of war," Joy said. "It was full of invective and accused us of all the crimes in the book."

Joy told the Red general:

"Your tactics, attitude and irresponsible words reveal an insincerity and ill-will which make increasingly difficult the consummation of an armistic and lead all the world to suspect that you have never genuinely desired an armistice.

"I suggest you re-evaluate your present behavior in the light of the tragic situation you are creating."

Nam Il again referred to the letter written to obtain the release of Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd, seized by Red prisoners of war on Koje Island. The letter has since been repudiated by Gen. Mark W. Clark, United Nations commander in the Far East.

In his first attack on Clark's action, Nam Il said it implied the allies "would persist in carrying on inhuman treatment and forcible screening" of captured Reds.

Group Told Chemical Body Changes Affect Cancer

New York, May 17 (AP)—The New York State Medical Society was told yesterday of recent observations in which a pre-cancerous condition "spontaneously reversed itself" to normal.

Dr. Cornelius P. Rhoads, director of the Memorial Center for Cancer and Allied Disease, in New York, addressed the society at the closing session of its annual meeting.

Rhoads said that by examinations of cells discharged in fluids from the mouth of the uterus "several instances have been encountered in which the characteristic pre-cancer cells have suddenly disappeared and have never reappeared."

He added that "due to some presently unknown change in the chemistry of the body, a trend toward cancer has spontaneously reversed itself."

The observations, he said, make it clear that there exists in the body chemical agencies that can reverse the cancer process.

Regiment Is at Koje

Tokyo, May 17 (AP)—Gen. Mark Clark tonight said the U. S. 187th Airborne Infantry Regiment has moved from Japan to Koje Island to reinforce the United Nations guard over tough Red prisoners of war there and prevent "mass outbreaks which inevitably would result in additional violence and bloodshed."

The new UN supreme commander said he ordered the reinforcements to Koje "to insure the complete control of UN POW Camp No. 1 at Koje-do by the United Nations authorities."

$1,000,000 Oil Fire Is Checked By Using Foamite

Threat to Corpus Christi Ended After Arrival of Extinguisher; Burned Through Night

Corpus Christi, Tex., May 17 (AP)—A million-dollar oil fire which had burned all night in this coastal city was extinguished shortly before dawn today.

Firemen began rolling up their hose at about 7:30 a. m. (CST) after a sleepless fight against what had been a raging, spectacular threat to the city.

Foamite—a carbon dioxide extinguisher which "suffocates" fire by depriving it of oxygen—did the trick. Two hundred thousand pounds of foamite in five-gallon cans arrived from Houston at 6:30 a. m.

The fire-dousing substance was quickly applied to what was left of a blaze already near the point of burning itself out.

End Comes Suddenly

The end came suddenly. Kathleen Marshall of the Corpus Christi Times told of walking "right through where the fire had been"— less than two hours after it still loomed large.

The estimated 200 firemen had run out of foamite during the night. Fire Chief John Carlyle had indicated this left the firemen little alternative except to let the fire burn itself out while they awaited new supplies of the chemical.

Truck drivers raced through the night with the foamite, which was passed out quickly on arrival here. Soon the massive flames were dead. The foam formed a suffocating "cap" for the flames still burning in two smaller oil tanks.

Oilmen made the estimate that the blaze had caused a million dollar loss.

The fire-fighters ran out of foamite, a carbon dioxide extinguisher, soon after an 80,000-barrel tank containing 50,000 gallons of kerosene exploded with a blinding flash just before midnight.

At least two of the ten burning tanks on the General American Tank terminal were of the 80,000-barrel variety.

Winds up to 30 miles per hour also hampered the tired firemen who came from the Corpus Christi Naval Training Station, the Corpus Christi Coast Guard

Back-to-Work Movement In Oil Plants Is Slow, Report

Denver, May 17 (AP)—The back-to-work movement of a large portion of the nation's refinery and pipeline oil industry workers was a slow trickle today, the 17th of a nationwide strike.

Meanwhile, some industry supplies continued short, especially aviation gasoline.

Settlements, which were expected to be quick or not completely satisfactory, are slow in coming.

About 35 CIO oil workers struck the WYCO pipeline in Colorado and Wyoming late yesterday. The line supplies 130 million of the 500 million gallons of refined gasoline used each year in Colorado.

The strike had been postponed twice. Union representatives had balked at a contract which they said did not offer satisfactory retroactive pay or any clause for reopening of wage talks. Similar difficulties were encountered in other areas, particularly in Texas, where talks are continuing on a plant-by-plant basis.

General disappointment was expressed over the government's ceiling recommendations of a 15-cent hourly wage hike. The coalition of 22 AFL, CIO and independent unions had been asking 25 cents, plus other benefits.

The Wage Stabilization Board in Washington, D. C., after a meeting with management and union officials May 13 set a general 15-cent hourly ceiling on wage increases for striking oil workers. Present pay averages $2 to $2.10 hourly.

A poll is being taken of 30 locals involved in a contract covering the Sinclair Oil Corp. and its subsidiaries. About 10,000 workers are involved and refineries in Texas, Pennsylvania, New York, Indiana and Wyoming, plus field production in a half dozen states and a pipeline ranging from the gulf coast to the Atlantic.

Refineries reporting operations underway again today included the Standard plant at Sugar Creek, Mo.; Globe's at Lemont, Ill., and the Panam Corp. Refinery at El Dorado, Ark.

Trans-World Airlines and Pan-American Airways have trimmed flights. Two Airlines' operations in Hong Kong have been cur-

Lovett Is Outspoken On Problem

'Strategy.' Cited

Communists Charge Us With Things They May Do,' He Says

Washington, May 17 (AP)—The head of America's armed forces wants the Communists to know that if they try germ or gas warfare "they'll wish they had never been born."

It was clear warning the United States believes it is prepared to dish out far more than it might have to take in this field.

Against the background of a Pentagon news conference, Defense Secretary Robert Lovett yesterday spoke out against Red propaganda charges that the United Nations had used these mass destruction weapons in the Korean war.

Giving American diplomacy a new and sharp tongue, the cabinet officer said coldly that anyone who makes such charges "lies in his teeth."

Fastens on Charges

He fastened upon the charges raised by the Reds to nag the negotiators at Panmunjom the tag of "abominable, malicious falsehood."

Lovett appeared to discern something more deeply ominous than their propaganda in the charges.

"It's strange," he said, "if you think back that the Communists' techniques worldwide have usually been to charge someone else in advance with the crime they propose to commit."

He said he wondered if that meant the Communists proposed to use the bacteriological and gas weapons. And then he said:

"If they do, they'll lose just the same—they'll wish they had never been born."

A reporter busy with taking notes said, "I beg your pardon?"

"If they do," Lovett repeated, "they'll lose just the same regardless of what they try in the way of weapons."

As to Countersteps

Did he mean we would take countersteps?

"They open—the minute they get into that type of thing—a vast area which the decent world has abstained from using."

He answered briefly that he couldn't say if that included the atomic bomb.

The Communists have been making charges about other nations using bacteriological weapons for several years. Moscow started out its program, as it often does, by indirection.

In 1949, it decided the Japanese during World War 2 had plotted to use BW (bacteriological warfare). Radio Moscow said a dozen Japanese officers had been indicted—but it didn't say where or in what court. Russia had taken Japanese prisoners during the Soviet Union's brief entry into the war against Japan in the closing days of World War 2.

Return to Theme

Since then, the Communists have sporadically returned to the theme of germ warfare used by other nations now pinning it upon the opponents of the Soviet's satellites in Asia.

What Lovett said yesterday by way of warning Reds of the Pandora's Box they would open if they tried germs or poison gas was substantially the warning given the Nazis, Fascists and Japanese in World War 2. They were notified if they used the unorthodox weapons the retaliation would be in kind and manifold. They needed that warning.

Says Truck Was Scraped

James Smith, 84 Clinton avenue, reported to police headquarters at 2:45 p. m. yesterday that two boys on one bicycle passed the pickup truck he was driving and scraped along its right side. He had been driving east on Pierpoint street and was turning into Ravine street at the time of the accident, he said. He reported that neither of the boys had apparently been injured, since they "kept right on going."

Steelworkers' Leader Says Union Is Ready to Bargain, Calls Upon Industry to Set Meeting Date 'Promptly'–Reads Letter

Philadelphia, May 17 (AP)—Philip Murray, still seeking a wage increase for his steelworkers after five months of negotiations, has lashed out critically at the boss of the federal-seized steel mills, calling the secretary of commerce biased and no friend of the CIO Union.

The president of the CIO-United Steelkorkers said yesterday that Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer had exhibited an "unthinkable degree of bias" in operating America's basic steel mills under orders of President Truman.

The charge came as the four-day sixth (biennial) constitutional convention came to a close.

The convention-ending harangue was based on a letter Sawyer wrote to Murray, and which the commerce secretary suggested might be read to the 2,500 delegates representing the 1,100,000 steelworkers.

And read it Murray did, waving it at his stunned audience, and calling the letter "nonsensical" and "an insult" to the union.

Sawyer's letter said "production reports * * * from the steel companies * * * have contained information regarding sporadic damage in connection with the shutdown of April 29 by reason of the lack of necessary standby arrangements to safeguard equipment when the men left the plants."

Murray said if their were any damaged mills it was the companies' fault "because we found it exteremely difficult to work out agreements, especially with the major firms, for the standby workers, the number and quality of them, needed to protect property."

Before Murray gaveled the convention to a close with his blast, the delegates in a noisy verbal demonstration voted to raise monthly dues from $2 to $3 and boost initiation fee from $3 to $5.

Eisenhower Polls Huge Oregon Lead, So Does Kefauver

General Stands to Gain 10 Delegates; Taft Not Entered in Contest

Portland, Ore., May 17 (AP)—Mounting returns early today magnified a smashing triumph for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in his primary election bid for Oregon's 18 Republican delegates.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, of Tennessee, on the basis of results from yesterday's heavy-voting popularity poll, grabbed an equally huge lead that assured him 12 Democratic delegates.

McMahon Joins Humphrey in Demand on Civil Rights Issue

Washington, May 17 (AP)—Sen. Brien McMahon, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, joined Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey today in demanding the party refuse to compromise with the south on the explosive civil rights issue.

In speeches prepared for the convention of Americans for Democratic Action (ADA), McMahon of Connecticut and Humphrey of Minnesota called for a renewed party pledge to put into effect President Truman's program on that matter. He said, however, "we must make this country an ever better place to live in for all our people—Negroes and whites, native-born and foreign-born, city folks and farm folks, of every race, creed and color."

New York Must Show Validity of Auto Tax

New York, May 17 (AP)—The city has been ordered to show why its newly enacted $5 and $10 use tax on cars and trucks should not be declared unconstitutional.

State Supreme Court Justice Ernest E. L. Hammer issued the show cause order yesterday in twin suits brought by an individual car owner and a truckers association.

The suits sought a temporary injunction to keep the city from collecting the taxes, saying the city had no right to "supercede contracts" between motorists and the state. By contracts, the suits referred to licenses that motorists buy.

Several Hundred Attend Reunion Events for Classes

First Mass Assembly Finds Interest Among Many Former School Students

Since graduating from Kingston's four academic institutions of learning, graduates have scattered in all directions and many have attained high position but distance and position were both put aside Friday when several hundred "old grads" assembled to attend the first mass reunion ever to be held by the classes of the old academies and Kingston High School.

Reunion headquarters were at the Governor Clinton Hotel where a reception of members was held at noon, followed by several luncheons and dinner parties prior to the groups moving to municipal stadium to attend the annual May Day exercises of Kingston High School.

Numerous Parties Held

Throughout the afternoon and evening there were numerous luncheons, parties and receptions held at hotels and in private homes as members of classes gathered to renew acquaintances.

The youngsters, members of the classes of 1930 through 1935 held an informal gathering at The Barn during the evening.

In charge of the reunion was Clarence S. Rowland, president of the Kingston Board of Education, as general chairman; Eugene B. Carey, former mayor of Kingston, was chairman of the Ulster Academy groups; John M. Cashin, county judge, was chairman of the Kingston Academy groups; Dr. Arthur Cragin, was chairman of the Ponckhockie Academy classes and Bertrand Bishop was chairman of the Kingston High School classes.

Old graduates began arriving in Kingston from distant points Thursday and several social gathings were held that evening in their honor. The general registration was at the Governor Clinton Hotel Friday where a booth in charge of Kingston High School students was the center of activities.

Lobby Is Crowded

So crowded was the lobby, dining rooms and lounge of the hotel that at noon it was difficult for class members to locate their classmates and get any semblance of class unity. Several of the chairmen in charge of contacting members of their class had arranged dinner parties, others held luncheons later and in several instances the visitors were house guests in the afternoon and evening.

The general consensus was that the mass class reunion, which started out with the hope of having a few old graduates return to Kingston on May Day and participate in the 300th anniversary of the founding of the city which is being observed this year, had turned out to be one of the most successful events of the year.

Says He Has Labored Seven Years for Peace, to Avoid War

Washington, May 17 (AP)—President Truman confronted Congress today with a demand that it vote every dollar the administration has asked for defense, lest the mobilization program falter and the nation be plunged into World War 3.

"To win the cold war Congress must give what we ask," the President told a national Armed Forces Day dinner here last night.

He branded as "poppycock" the argument that defense spending will bring on national bankruptcy. He said the only citizens who have suffered in the defense effort so far are the men fighting in the Korean war and their families.

"You must not do anything that will cause those men to get shot in the back," Truman said.

The President spoke briefly and extemporaneously at the dinner after Secretary of State Acheson had delivered a full-dress speech on the theme that only the combined efforts of the United States and its allies can prevent Russia from "engulfing the world."

Both men stressed their belief in the need for increased American military strength.

Theme of Peace Repeated

The power which this country has generated so far in its defense drive, Truman said, has made "the path of an aggressor * * * much more difficult, and that means that the chances of a third world war are just that much less."

He said he had worked for more than seven years to prevent a third world war and establish peace "and I believe we are on the verge of success in what we started out to do."

But he argued this could all be upset if the mobilization program which he said has gained tremendous momentum should now be damaged for reasons of political expediency by men "in and out of Congress who played petty politics and hamper our efforts."

"If the defense effort is not carried forward on an orderly basis," the President declared, "it just won't work and we will step right into World War III. And it can't be carried forward on an orderly basis without the necessary appropriations we need."

Has Not Yet Acted

The Senate has not yet acted on the defense appropriation bill the President referred to, but the House last month cut the total sharply.

The President asked for $52,921,022,770 for the 12 months beginning July 1. The House cut this to $46,207,177,554, a 9.2 per cent reduction.

Although the administration protested the cut in new money voted, major criticism centered around a House provision which would limit military spending for the year to 46 billions, regardless of whether it was financed by the new funds or money already on hand.

The Pentagon had planned to spend about 52½ billions during the fiscal year, and has an accumuated backlog of unspent funds of about 58 billion to help finance the program.

Under the House provision, however, it could only spend 46 billions.

400,000 Go on Review

Frankfurt, Germany, May 17 (AP)—Nearly 400,000 American fighting men went on review today in Armed Forces Day exercises from the North Sea to the Mediterranean — and even 100 miles behind the Soviet lines in West Berlin. It was the greatest exhibition of U. S. military strength on this continent since World War 2.

Permission Is Granted

New York, May 17 (AP)—The regional office of the Wage Stabilization Board yesterday granted permission for an eight cents hourly wage rise to 1,270 employes of the Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corporation in Farmingdale and Valley Stream. Permission also was given for 2½ cent hourly boosts to 2,110 Otis Elevator Company workers in Yonkers.

Bill Is Killed

Manila, May 17 (AP)—The anti-administration Senate last night killed a bill it said would have had the affect of halting foreign newsmen from criticizing the government under penalty of deportation. Senator Claro M. Reco of the Nacionalista party said the proposed amendment to immigration laws abridged the right of a free press and free speech.

Newsprint Hike Will Cost U.S. Publishers 50 Millions

New York, May 17 (AP)—Faced with another $10-a-ton boost in the price of Canadian newsprint—the second such increase in less than a year—American newspaper publishers find themselves in an increasingly difficult cost squeeze in getting out your daily paper.

The latest increase—it's scheduled to take effect June 15—is expected to add more than 50 million dollars a year to costs of publishing in this country.

Newsprint, the paper that newspapers are printed on, accounts for up to 50 per cent of the expense of getting out a big metropolitan daily. Figuring in the new $10 increase, the price of newsprint since V-J Day has climbed 152 per cent. It has gone up more than 200 per cent since the great depression.

Some publishers predict that the higher costs will inevitably lead to further increases in advertising and subscription rates—already near or past the saturation point, in the opinion of many.

Others say the steady trend toward fewer and larger newspapers toward mergers and consolidations, will gather new force. Expectations are that an increasing number of newspapers may be put out of business.

The Truman administration immediately asked the Canadian government to reconsider and rescind its approval of the price hike.

Price Director Ellis Arnall, in a telegram to C. D. Howe, Canadian minister of defense production, said 749 American daily newspapers have disappeared within the past 20 years through consolidations, mergers and failures.

If newsprint prices continue to rise, Arnall said, the trend will continue and—in the end—the Canadian newsprint industry itself would ultimately be injured.

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D.-Colo.), chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, suggested a study to determine whether the U. S. "should retaliate by upping the price of sulphur, which these newsprint producers must get from us."

Reds Told Final Effort Put Forth ForKorean Truce

UN Patrol Kills 27 Enemy During Pre-Dawn Attack

13 Reds Also Wounded in Battle for Hill Near Truce Site; Planes Busy

Seoul, Korea, May 17 (AP)—An allied patrol, using bayonets and small arms fire, today stormed a Red-held hill on the western Korea front, killing 27 Communists and wounding 13.

The pre-dawn fight took place northwest of the Panmunjom truce site, an Eighth Army communique said. Both sides rushed in reinforcements during the scrap which broke off at 4:40 a. m.

Artillery aided the attack by knocking out two Red mortar positions.

For the fourth straight morning, a United Nations tank-infantry patrol raided Communist lines on the central front in the Kumhwa area. The Eighth Army said tank fire knocked out snipers and a machine gun.

Allied patrols on the eastern front fought brief engagements with Red patrols in the early morning hours.

Supply Lines Blasted

Allied land and carrier based planes Friday continued their relentless attack on Red supply lines in North Korea.

The air force said its warplanes flew 1,030 sorties. Pilot claims included 25 Red guns silenced, 40 troop bunkers destroyed, 55 buildings and 65 vehicles destroyed, four bridges damaged, one boat sunk, and 110 rail cuts.

Navy pilots from the American carriers Boxer and Philippine Sea said they cut Red rail lines in northeast Korea in 177 places, destroyed three rail bridges, blew up 18 supply buildings, two rail cars and 10 trucks.

Allied destroyers off the west coast pounded Red guns, troops and supply buildings on the Ongjin Peninsula.

In Tokyo, the Far East Air force announced that Lt. Gen. Frank F. Everest, commander of the Fifth Air Force, will be relieved May 19 by Brig. Gen. Glenn O. Barcus, now deputy commander of the tactical air command in the United States.

Everest will take over the TAC deputy command. Everest has commanded the allied air war in Korea the past year. During this period there has been a constant build-up of Red air strength and anti-aircraft fire.

14 Allied Craft Lost

The Fifth Air Force announced that the allies lost 14 planes in combat the past week. One U. S. Sabre jet was knocked out in an air fight. Eleven UN planes were shot down by ground fire. Two more were lost to unknown causes.

During the same period, the Fifth added, allied jets destroyed eight Red planes, probably destroyed two others, and damaged eight.

Joy Issues Blunt Statement, Asks Reds to View Behavior

Munsan, Korea, May 17 (AP)—United Nations truce negotiators told the Reds today the UN command has made its "final negotiatory effort" and suggested the Reds re-evaluate their behavior in the "tragic situation you are creating."

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, senior allied delegate, bluntly declared in today's 50-minute session at Panmunjom:

"We have made our final negotiatory effort in the interest of an early armistice. We will not consider further concessions or counter-proposals."

The issue of how to exchange prisoners of war blocks an armistice.

Will Never Agree

North Korean Gen. Nam Il declared the Reds will never agree to the allied over-all proposal of April 28. It calls for return of only those Communist prisoners who are willing to go back to Communist-held territory.

Fewer than half the 169,000 captured Reds and internees have expressed willingness to go back. Allied screening of prisoners showed this fact.

At Communist insistence, the armistice negotiators will meet again tomorrow at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. Saturday EST).

Joy reviewed the allied offer of April 28. In it the allies offered to withdraw their objections to rehabilitation of Red airfields if the Reds withdraw the nomination of Soviet Russia as a neutral observer during an armistice and insisted on voluntary repatriation of prisoners.

To Avoid Misunderstanding

Joy told newsmen he made the review "in order that there might be no misunderstanding."

"In return, we got the usual propaganda blast accusing us of maltreating their (Red) prisoners of war," Joy said. "It was full of invective and accused us of all the crimes in the book."

Joy told the Red general:

"Your tactics, attitude and irresponsible words reveal an insincerity and ill-will which make increasingly difficult the consummation of an armistic and lead all the world to suspect that you have never genuinely desired an armistice.

"I suggest you re-evaluate your present behavior in the light of the tragic situation you are creating."

Nam Il again referred to the letter written to obtain the release of Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd, seized by Red prisoners of war on Koje Island. The letter has since been repudiated by Gen. Mark W. Clark, United Nations commander in the Far East.

In his first attack on Clark's action, Nam Il said it implied the allies "would persist in carrying on inhuman treatment and forcible screening" of captured Reds.

Group Told Chemical Body Changes Affect Cancer

New York, May 17 (AP)—The New York State Medical Society was told yesterday of recent observations in which a pre-cancerous condition "spontaneously reversed itself" to normal.

Dr. Cornelius P. Rhoads, director of the Memorial Center for Cancer and Allied Disease, in New York, addressed the society at the closing session of its annual meeting.

Rhoads said that by examinations of cells discharged in fluids from the mouth of the uterus "several instances have been encountered in which the characteristic pre-cancer cells have suddenly disappeared and have never reappeared."

He added that "due to some presently unknown change in the chemistry of the body, a trend toward cancer has spontaneously reversed itself."

The observations, he said, make it clear that there exists in the body chemical agencies that can reverse the cancer process.

Regiment Is at Koje

Tokyo, May 17 (AP)—Gen. Mark Clark tonight said the U. S. 187th Airborne Infantry Regiment has moved from Japan to Koje Island to reinforce the United Nations guard over tough Red prisoners of war there and prevent "mass outbreaks which inevitably would result in additional violence and bloodshed."

The new UN supreme commander said he ordered the reinforcements to Koje "to insure the complete control of UN POW Camp No. 1 at Koje-do by the United Nations authorities."

$1,000,000 Oil Fire Is Checked By Using Foamite

Threat to Corpus Christi Ended After Arrival of Extinguisher; Burned Through Night

Corpus Christi, Tex., May 17 (AP)—A million-dollar oil fire which had burned all night in this coastal city was extinguished shortly before dawn today.

Firemen began rolling up their hose at about 7:30 a. m. (CST) after a sleepless fight against what had been a raging, spectacular threat to the city.

Foamite—a carbon dioxide extinguisher which "suffocates" fire by depriving it of oxygen—did the trick. Two hundred thousand pounds of foamite in five-gallon cans arrived from Houston at 6:30 a. m.

The fire-dousing substance was quickly applied to what was left of a blaze already near the point of burning itself out.

End Comes Suddenly

The end came suddenly. Kathleen Marshall of the Corpus Christi Times told of walking "right through where the fire had been"— less than two hours after it still loomed large.

The estimated 200 firemen had run out of foamite during the night. Fire Chief John Carlyle had indicated this left the firemen little alternative except to let the fire burn itself out while they awaited new supplies of the chemical.

Truck drivers raced through the night with the foamite, which was passed out quickly on arrival here. Soon the massive flames were dead. The foam formed a suffocating "cap" for the flames still burning in two smaller oil tanks.

Oilmen made the estimate that the blaze had caused a million dollar loss.

The fire-fighters ran out of foamite, a carbon dioxide extinguisher, soon after an 80,000-barrel tank containing 50,000 gallons of kerosene exploded with a blinding flash just before midnight.

At least two of the ten burning tanks on the General American Tank terminal were of the 80,000-barrel variety.

Winds up to 30 miles per hour also hampered the tired firemen who came from the Corpus Christi Naval Training Station, the Corpus Christi Coast Guard

Back-to-Work Movement In Oil Plants Is Slow, Report

Denver, May 17 (AP)—The back-to-work movement of a large portion of the nation's refinery and pipeline oil industry workers was a slow trickle today, the 17th of a nationwide strike.

Meanwhile, some industry supplies continued short, especially aviation gasoline.

Settlements, which were expected to be quick or not completely satisfactory, are slow in coming.

About 35 CIO oil workers struck the WYCO pipeline in Colorado and Wyoming late yesterday. The line supplies 130 million of the 500 million gallons of refined gasoline used each year in Colorado.

The strike had been postponed twice. Union representatives had balked at a contract which they said did not offer satisfactory retroactive pay or any clause for reopening of wage talks. Similar difficulties were encountered in other areas, particularly in Texas, where talks are continuing on a plant-by-plant basis.

General disappointment was expressed over the government's ceiling recommendations of a 15-cent hourly wage hike. The coalition of 22 AFL, CIO and independent unions had been asking 25 cents, plus other benefits.

The Wage Stabilization Board in Washington, D. C., after a meeting with management and union officials May 13 set a general 15-cent hourly ceiling on wage increases for striking oil workers. Present pay averages $2 to $2.10 hourly.

A poll is being taken of 30 locals involved in a contract covering the Sinclair Oil Corp. and its subsidiaries. About 10,000 workers are involved and refineries in Texas, Pennsylvania, New York, Indiana and Wyoming, plus field production in a half dozen states and a pipeline ranging from the gulf coast to the Atlantic.

Refineries reporting operations underway again today included the Standard plant at Sugar Creek, Mo.; Globe's at Lemont, Ill., and the Panam Corp. Refinery at El Dorado, Ark.

Trans-World Airlines and Pan-American Airways have trimmed flights. Two Airlines' operations in Hong Kong have been cur-

Lovett Is Outspoken OnProblem

'Strategy.' Cited

Communists Charge Us With Things They May Do, He Says

Washington, May 17 (AP)—The head of America's armed forces wants the Communists to know that if they try germ or gas warfare "they'll wish they had never been born."

It was clear warning the United States believes it is prepared to dish out far more than it might have to take in this field.

Against the background of a Pentagon news conference, Defense Secretary Robert Lovett yesterday spoke out against Red propaganda charges that the United Nations had used these mass destruction weapons in the Korean war.

Giving American diplomacy a new and sharp tongue, the cabinet officer said coldly that anyone who makes such charges "lies in his teeth."

Fastens on Charges

He fastened upon the charges raised by the Reds to nag the negotiators at Panmunjom the tag of "abominable, malicious falsehood."

Lovett appeared to discern something more deeply ominous than their propaganda in the charges.

"It's strange," he said, "if you think back that the Communists' techniques worldwide have usually been to charge someone else in advance with the crime they propose to commit."

He said he wondered if that meant the Communists proposed to use the bacteriological and gas weapons. And then he said:

"If they do, they'll lose just the same—they'll wish they had never been born."

A reporter busy with taking notes said, "I beg your pardon?"

"If they do," Lovett repeated, "they'll lose just the same regardless of what they try in the way of weapons."

As to Countersteps

Did he mean we would take countersteps?

"They open—the minute they get into that type of thing—a vast area which the decent world has abstained from using."

He answered briefly that he couldn't say if that included the atomic bomb.

The Communists have been making charges about other nations using bacteriological weapons for several years. Moscow started out its program, as it often does, by indirection.

In 1949, it decided the Japanese during World War 2 had plotted to use BW (bacteriological warfare). Radio Moscow said a dozen Japanese officers had been indicted—but it didn't say where or in what court. Russia had taken Japanese prisoners during the Soviet Union's brief entry into the war against Japan in the closing days of World War 2.

Return to Theme

Since then, the Communists have sporadically returned to the theme of germ warfare used by other nations now pinning it upon the opponents of the Soviet's satellites in Asia.

What Lovett said yesterday by way of warning Reds of the Pandora's Box they would open if they tried germs or poison gas was substantially the warning given the Nazis, Fascists and Japanese in World War 2. They were notified if they used the unorthodox weapons the retaliation would be in kind and manifold. They needed that warning.

Says Truck Was Scraped

James Smith, 84 Clinton avenue, reported to police headquarters at 2:45 p. m. yesterday that two boys on one bicycle passed the pickup truck he was driving and scraped along its right side. He had been driving east on Pierpoint street and was turning into Ravine street at the time of the accident, he said. He reported that neither of the boys had apparently been injured, since they "kept right on going."

LET'S STICK TO MOSES!

When they were preparing to produce the motion picture "The Ten Commandments," the director and the author of the story consulted a professor who had been recommended as an authority on the Law of Moses. They expected a scholarly explanation, but when the professor had finished, there was little left of the Ten Commandments—and no story.

After the interview, when they were alone again, the disgusted director remarked: "We'll stick to Moses."

Yes, let's stick to Moses! There may be those who would abolish the Ten Commandments, but let's stick to the Commandments as God gave them to us through Moses.

And there is no better way of doing so, than by sticking to Jesus Christ, Who gave us the Commandments of love—the love of God and the love of our neighbor. All other Commandments are contained in these two.

"Thou shalt love the Lord, thy God..." The observance of Christ's first Commandment will establish in us a strong, dignified personal relationship to God. If we love the true God, we will give Him the honor that is His due...we will respectfully use His Holy Name...we will not think it too much to spend one day of the week in His company.

"Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," said the Savior. Who should hold first place among our neighbors, if not our parents...or our own children?

And it should be obvious that if we love our neighbor, we will not take his life, or damage his health. Decent human love surely excludes the burlesque of love called adultery and the fierce attack which this lust makes upon the innocent and unprotected.

We would never steal from the ones we love; nor would we rob them of their good name. Certainly we would not lift a covetous hand to deprive them of the things intended to make their lives full and contented.

Let's stick to Moses, whose Commandments forbade human beings to break the bonds and destroy the relationships that preserve human dignity, develop character and guarantee human safety.

Let's stick to Christ, Who, in a more spiritual way, pointed out that if we love rightly and well, we will obey the law of God...protect all the relationships that guarantee our own happiness and make life safe and happy for the people who are our neighbors.

The Ten Commandments are God's design for human living. Are you familiar with them? Do you understand how important they are in your daily life? Write today for our free pamphlet on this subject. Ask for Pamphlet No. 12-KC.

LET'S STICK TO MOSES!

When they were preparing to produce the motion picture "The Ten Commandments," the director and the author of the story consulted a professor who had been recommended as an authority on the Law of Moses. They expected a scholarly explanation, but when the professor had finished, there was little left of the Ten Commandments—and no story.

After the interview, when they were alone again, the disgusted director remarked: "We'll stick to Moses."

Yes, let's stick to Moses! There may be those who would abolish the Ten Commandments, but let's stick to the Commandments as God gave them to us through Moses.

And there is no better way of doing so, than by sticking to Jesus Christ, Who gave us the Commandments of love—the love of God and the love of our neighbor. All other Commandments are contained in these two.

"Thou shalt love the Lord, thy God..." The observance of Christ's first Commandment will establish in us a strong, dignified personal relationship to God. If we love the true God, we will give Him the honor that is His due... we will respectfully use His Holy Name... we will not think it too much to spend one day of the week in His company.

"Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," said the Savior. Who should hold first place among our neighbors, if not our parents... or our own children?

And it should be obvious that if we love our neighbor, we will not take his life, or damage his health. Decent human love surely excludes the burlesque of love called adultery and the fierce attack which this lust makes upon the innocent and unprotected.

We would never steal from the ones we love; nor would we rob them of their good name. Certainly we would not lift a covetous hand to deprive them of the things intended to make their lives full and contented.

Let's stick to Moses, whose Commandments forbade human beings to break the bonds and destroy the relationships that preserve human dignity, develop character and guarantee human safety.

Let's stick to Christ, Who, in a more spiritual way, pointed out that if we love rightly and well, we will obey the law of God... protect all the relationships that guarantee our own happiness and make life safe and happy for the people who are our neighbors.

The Ten Commandments are God's design for human living. Are you familiar with them? Do you understand how important they are in your daily life? Write today for our free pamphlet on this subject. Ask for Pamphlet No. 12-KC.

Good Humor That Counts

Anybody can be good-humored when everything is rosy and there is no ripple of difficulty upon the sea of circumstances. That kind of good humor isn't very significant. For it is easy to wear a cheerful countenance when we are in a streak of life that is made up of "the rippling chant of our favorite song." John Ruskin makes this comment about his young manhood: "I knew myself wholly reverent to all real greatness, and wholly good-humored—when I got my own way." But that did not represent any Herculean accomplishment. Even the worst brat can be pleasantly cheerful when no person or thing is "crossing him up." The time to take significant readings of the barometer of good humor is when we are not having our own way; when things are not moving "along like a song."

Probably one of the very worst things that could happen to us would be suddenly to find ourselves in a world where every least whim was granted. Character is not built out of the brick and mortar of struggleless living. If dreams always coddled us with an effortless fulfillment that would be one sure way to write a verdict of inevitable doom over our future. For then we would soon become spineless creatures. We would lose our zest for life. Even the most anticipated experiences would fall flat if we had an absolute control over them and could bend them to our minutest fancy. The hazards involved in always having our own way would be infinitely greater than those in a world like ours where we have to reckon with the limitations and set-backs of stubborn circumstances.

The folks who have a kind of good humor that really counts are those who, when you could expect sourness, remain sweet; who, when circumstances would testify irritation and bitterness, remain calm and gracious. After all it said and done, it is no outstanding achievement to be brave when there is no danger afoot, or plucky when there isn't even the slightest reason for being afraid. Winning isn't much of an event when ther isn't any opposition or smiling when there is no discernable reason for being sour. For the smiles that are but the happy reflection of everything about us are not the ones that really count. It is, rather, the cheery countenance that has to be maintained in the face of the severest testings and the most stubborn of circumstances that bears the marks of real significance.

'Tis easy enough to be pleasant,
When life flows along like a song;
But the man worth while is the one who will smile
When everything goes dead wrong;
For the test of the heart is trouble,
And it always comes with the years,
But the smile that is worth the praise of earth
Is the smile that comes through tears.

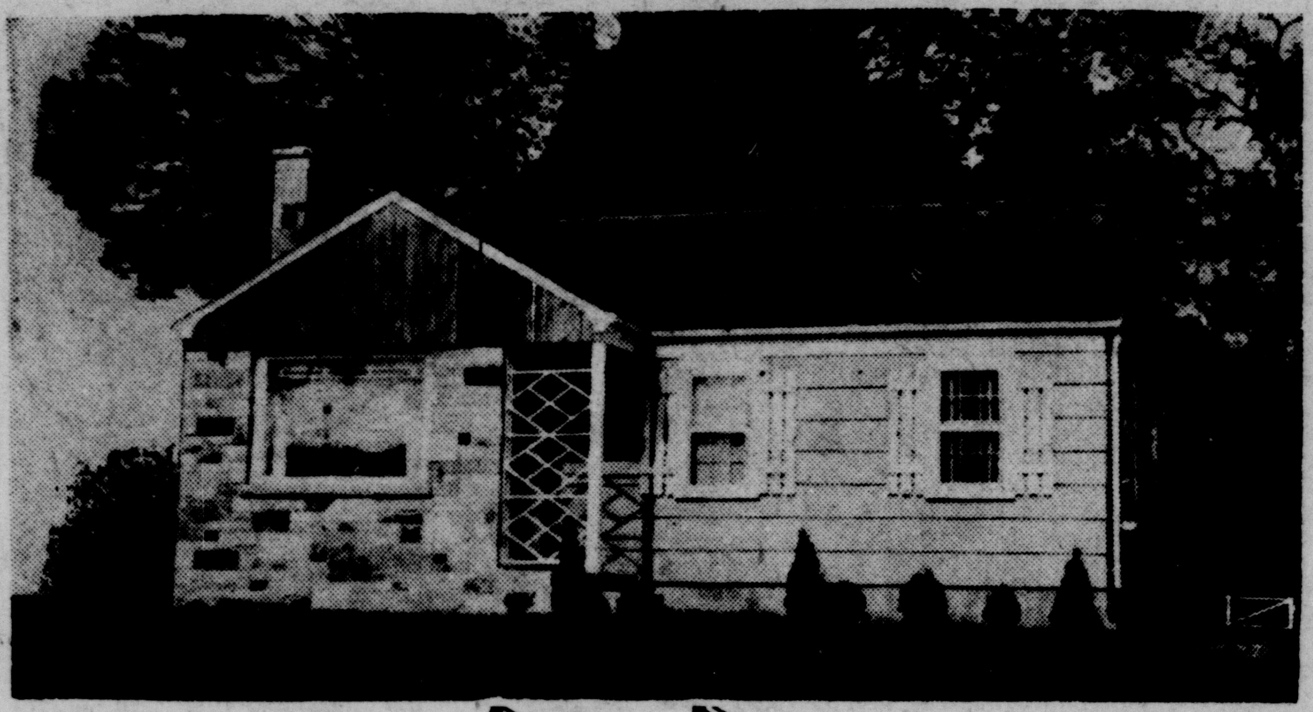
Well-Planned Stairway

Consideration should be given to the specifications for the angle of ascent of the stairway in a two-story house, according to the Housing and Home Finance agency. A properly designed stairway cannot only provide easy, natural ascent to the second floor, but also can be made an outstanding decorative feature of the interior.

THE NEWPORT



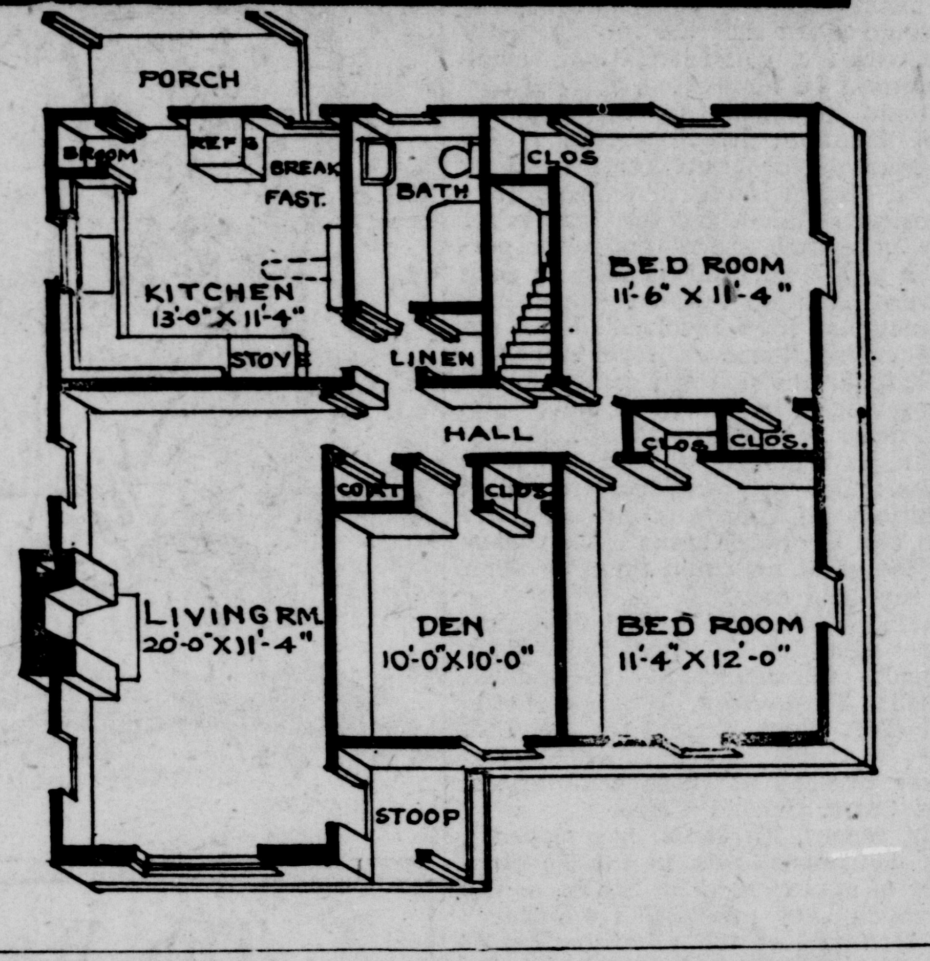
A Small House Of Great Charm

Rooms .... Five
Bedrooms .... Two
Closets .... Seven
Cubage .... 19,800 ft.
Dimensions .... 35' x 28'

Because it measures only 35 x 28 feet in overall dimensions, and has a cubage of 19,800 feet "The Newport" can easily be built on a 60 foot lot. These figures do not, of course, allow for a garage. You can easily have an attached or detached garage built at the same time as the house by making such arrangements with your contractor. However, whether you plan to have the garage constructed at the same time as the house or at some later date, be sure to obtain a large enough lot to accommodate both the house and the garage.

While a combination fieldstone and clapboard exterior is used for the house in the illustration, a plain masonry, shingled or clapboarded exterior would be equaly attractive and appropriate for "The Newport." This delightful little home can be built in any type of a location. Simple landscaping is recommended.

The little front stoop, which adds to the decorative appeal of the house's exterior, serves the practical function of protecting the front entrance. Guests and the family alike will appreciate this protection from sun and storm.



Although there is no entry hall in "The Newport," because the front door opens directly on the living room, there is a closet conveniently placed in the hallway connecting the living room and the other rooms in this house; this can serve as the storage place for guests wraps.

Plenty of Light

One large picture window, centered in the front wall, and two windows in the left wall provide an abundance of light and ventilation for the 20' x 11'4" living room. The large fireplace in the left wall, between the two windows, should be the focal point or decorative interest in the room; the long unbroken right wall makes the attractive arrangement of large furniture pieces an easy task indeed.

Because there is no dining room proper in "The Newport," the living room must lead a double life. In order to make serving meals and clearing away afterwards just as easy as possible, place the dining room set near the back wall where it will be just a few steps from the all modern kitchen.

Measuring 13'x11'4", the kitchen contains a wealth of working counters, and storage cupboards and cabinets; these are arranged in an L shaped array along the front and left walls. Under the large window in the left wall is the selected and most popular location for the sink. Put the stove at the right end of the line of working counters and the refrigerator against the back wall.

Across the hall from the bathroom is the 10 foot square den. This room can be used as it will best suit the needs of you and your family and is so designed that it can serve as a den for the man of the house, a combination den and library, a guest room or as a third bedroom. One window, looking out on the front yard, provides sufficient light and ventilation for the room and the good sized closet, in the back wall, will come in handy regardless of the use to which you decide to put this room. Both the right and left walls are unbroken by doors or windows and, should you decide to use this room as a combination den-library, bookshelves can be built along either of these walls.

Stairs to the basement lead down from the central hallway between the door to the bathroom and the one to the back bedroom. One window in the back wall and another in the right wall guarantee good lighting and cross ventilation for this bedroom, which is 11'6" x 11' 4". Since this room is designed to serve as the master bedroom in "The Newport" it has two generous sized closets; one of the closets is in the left wall and the other is in the front wall.

There is cross ventilation and good lighting in the front bedroom also. One window is in the front wall of this 11'4" x 12' room; the other is in the right wall.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost. For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 24, The Kingston Daily Freeman, and enclose a self-addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

Location of House On Site Important

Take into account how the house you are considering buying is located on its site.

The most advantageous location of the house on the lot and the treatment of the site itself are part of the "land planning" developed during recent years by the nation's home builders. Other features of land planning in today's new communities show up in the arrangement of streets, the provision of community facilities such as shopping centers, schools and churches, and the relation of the development to places of employment and transportation.

Here are a few points that distinguish good neighborhoods and add to the quality, acceptability and enduring value of today's homes:

1. Houses built on narrow lots are set back varying distances from the street to create privacy.
2. Builders put stress on the design for living idea by planning facilities and areas for outdoor as well as indoor living.
3. Many sites, formerly rejected as sloping, too wooded or too rocky, can be used for homes of contemporary design with careful planning.
4. A design ideally suited for the south side of the street is changed if the house is to be built on the north side.

These are just a few of the points pertinent to a site that should be carefully considered by the public when looking for a home. Best home construction today does not stop at the outside walls of the house, but includes installation of at least the basic part of the facilities for outdoor living. This usually means the terrace, the right kind of fence screening if needed for privacy, and retention of trees.

The trend toward contemporary type homes and more careful land treatment is catching on fast in most parts of the country. An increasing number of builders today furnish the buyer with a professionally designed landscaping plan or a choice of several plans, to enable him to follow a consistent idea of developing the site of his home over the years.

Painting Brick House

Faulty Subfloors Cause Squeaks

High on the list of domestic annoyances are squeaky floors. Prospective home builders would be wise, therefore, to insist that approved methods be used in construction of their floors.

A floor of hardwood is almost certain to be free of squeaks if correct installation procedures are observed in laying both the finish floor and the subfloor.

As a rule when squeaks develop they originate not in the finish floor but in the subflooring. Generally the cause is loosening of subfloor boards from the joists to which they are nailed. The nails may not have been driven tighthly, or an insufficient number of nails may have been used. Improperly dried subfloor boards may have been employed. Such boards have a tendency to shrink excessively in drying out, thus allowing nails to loosen.

The absence of subflooring also can be a factor in development of squeaks. Subfloors provide a firm base for the finish floors. They are so essential to sound construction that most modern building codes specify them. Their omission is poor economy.

Sowing Lettuce

Lettuce seed germinates best in a soil temperature of 60 to 65 degrees. If necessary to sow when temperatures are higher, place the seed between moist cloths and store for several days on ice. Dry the surface of the seed before sowing.

If dreams always coddled us with an effortless fulfillment that would be one sure way to write a verdict of inevitable doom over our future. For then we would soon become spineless creatures. We would lose our zest for life. Even the most anticipated experiences would fall flat if we had an absolute control over them and could bend them to our minutest fancy. The hazards involved in always having our own way would be infinitely greater than those in a world like ours where we have to reckon with the limitations and set-backs of stubborn circumstances.

The folks who have a kind of good humor that really counts are those who, when you could expect sourness, remain sweet; who, when circumstances would testify irritation and bitterness, remain calm and gracious. After all it said and done, it is no outstanding achievement to be brave when there is no danger afoot, or plucky when there isn't even the slightest reason for being afraid. Winning isn't much of an event when ther isn't any opposition or smiling when there is no discernable reason for being sour. For the smiles that are but the happy reflection of everything about us are not the ones that really count. It is, rather, the cheery countenance that has to be maintained in the face of the severest testings and the most stubborn of circumstances that bears the marks of real significance.

'Tis easy enough to be pleasant,
When life flows along like a song;
But the man worth while is the one who will smile
When everything goes dead wrong;
For the test of the heart is trouble,
And it always comes with the years,
But the smile that is worth the praise of earth
Is the smile that comes through tears.

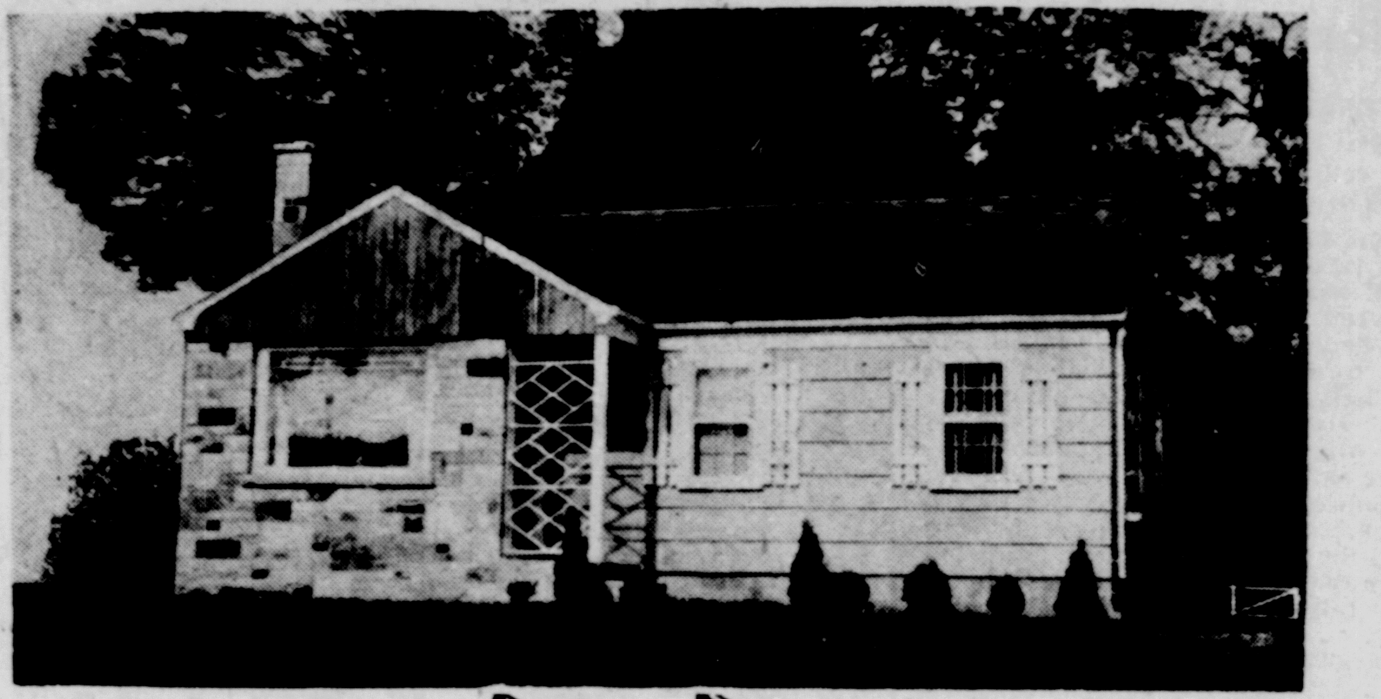
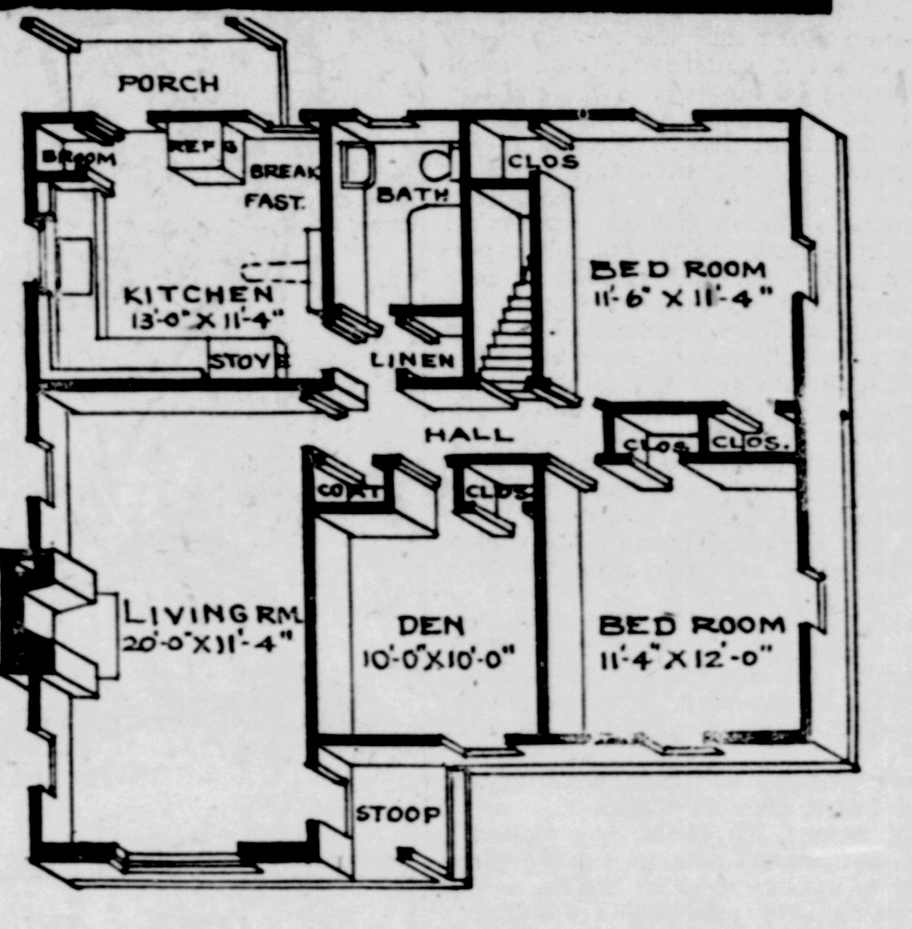
Miss Joanne Overbaugh of Lake Katrine spent a few days this week with her aunt, Mrs. Luther Merrihew.

Well-Planned Stairway

Consideration should be given to the specifications for the angle of ascent of the stairway in a two-story house, according to the Housing and Home Finance agency. A properly designed stairway cannot only provide easy, natural ascent to the second floor, but also can be made an outstanding decorative feature of the interior.

THE NEWPORT





A Small House Of Great Charm

Rooms	Five
Bedrooms	Two
Closets	Seven
Cubage	19,800 ft.
Dimensions	35' x 28'

Because it measures only 35 x 28 feet in overall dimensions, and has a cubage of 19,800 feet "The Newport" can easily be built on a 60 foot lot. These figures do not, of course, allow for a garage. You can easily have an attached or detached garage built at the same time as the house by making such arrangements with your contractor. However, whether you plan to have the garage constructed at the same time as the house or at some later date, be sure to obtain a large enough lot to accommodate both the house and the garage.

While a combination fieldstone and clapboard exterior is used for the house in the illustration, a plain masonry, shingled or clapboarded exterior would be equaly attractive and appropriate for "The Newport." This delightful little home can be built in any type of a location. Simple landscaping is recommended.

The little front stoop, which adds to the decorative appeal of the house's exterior, serves the practical function of protecting the front entrance. Guests and the family alike will appreciate this protection from sun and storm.

Although there is no entry hall in "The Newport," because the front door opens directly on the living room, there is a closet conveniently placed in the hallway connecting the living room and the other rooms in this house; this can serve as the storage place for guests wraps.

Plenty of Light

One large picture window, centered in the front wall, and two windows in the left wall provide an abundance of light and ventilation for the 20' x 11'4" living room. The large fireplace in the left wall, between the two windows, should be the focal point or decorative interest in the room; the long unbroken right wall makes the attractive arrangement of large furniture pieces an easy task indeed.

Because there is no dining room proper in "The Newport," the living room must lead a double life. In order to make serving meals and clearing away afterwards just as easy as possible, place the dining room set near the back wall where it will be just a few steps from the all modern kitchen.

Measuring 13'x11'4", the kitchen contains a wealth of working counters, and storage cupboards and cabinets; these are arranged in an L shaped array along the front and left walls. Under the large window in the left wall is the selected and most popular location for the sink. Put the stove at the right end of the line of working counters and the refrigerator against the back wall.

Across the hall from the bathroom is the 10 foot square den. This room can be used as it will best suit the needs of you and your family and is so designed that it can serve as a den for the man of the house, a combination den and library, a guest room or as a third bedroom. One window, looking out on the front yard, provides sufficient light and ventilation for the room and the good sized closet, in the back wall, will come in handy regardless of the use to which you decide to put this room. Both the right and left walls are unbroken by doors or windows and, should you decide to use this room as a combination den-library, bookshelves can be built along either of these walls.

Stairs to the basement lead down from the central hallway between the door to the bathroom and the one to the back bedroom. One window in the back wall and another in the right wall guarantee good lighting and cross ventilation for this bedroom, which is 11'6" x 11' 4". Since this room is designed to serve as the master bedroom in "The Newport" it has two generous sized closets; one of the closets is in the left wall and the other is in the front wall.

There is cross ventilation and good lighting in the front bedroom also. One window is in the front wall of this 11'4" x 12' room; the other is in the right wall.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost. For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 24, The Kingston Daily Freeman, and enclose a self-addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

Location of House On Site Important

Take into account how the house you are considering buying is located on its site.

The most advantageous location of the house on the lot and the treatment of the site itself are part of the "land planning" developed during recent years by the nation's home builders. Other features of land planning in today's new communities show up in the arrangement of streets, the provision of community facilities such as shopping centers, schools and churches, and the relation of the development to places of employment and transportation.

Here are a few points that distinguish good neighborhoods and add to the quality, acceptability and enduring value of today's homes:

1. Houses built on narrow lots are set back varying distances from the street to create privacy.
2. Builders put stress on the design for living idea by planning facilities and areas for outdoor as well as indoor living.
3. Many sites, formerly rejected as sloping, too wooded or too rocky, can be used for homes of contemporary design with careful planning.
4. A design ideally suited for the south side of the street is changed if the house is to be built on the north side.

These are just a few of the points pertinent to a site that should be carefully considered by the public when looking for a home. Best home construction today does not stop at the outside walls of the house, but includes installation of at least the basic part of the facilities for outdoor living. This usually means the terrace, the right kind of fence screening if needed for privacy, and retention of trees.

The trend toward contemporary type homes and more careful land treatment is catching on fast in most parts of the country. An increasing number of builders today furnish the buyer with a professionally designed landscaping plan or a choice of several plans, to enable him to follow a consistent idea of developing the site of his home over the years.

Painting Brick House

Faulty Subfloors Cause Squeaks

High on the list of domestic annoyances are squeaky floors. Prospective home builders would be wise, therefore, to insist that approved methods be used in construction of their floors.

A floor of hardwood is almost certain to be free of squeaks if correct installation procedures are observed in laying both the finish floor and the subfloor.

As a rule when squeaks develop they originate not in the finish floor but in the subflooring. Generally the cause is loosening of subfloor boards from the joists to which they are nailed. The nails may not have been driven tighthly, or an insufficient number of nails may have been used. Improperly dried subfloor boards may have been employed. Such boards have a tendency to shrink excessively in drying out, thus allowing nails to loosen.

The absence of subflooring also can be a factor in development of squeaks. Subfloors provide a firm base for the finish floors. They are so essential to sound construction that most modern building codes specify them. Their omission is poor economy.

Sowing Lettuce

Lettuce seed germinates best in a soil temperature of 60 to 65 degrees. If necessary to sow when temperatures are higher, place the seed between moist cloths and store for several days on ice. Dry the surface of the seed before sowing.

REDS MUST SWALLOW BITTER PILL

The Communists are now daring UN negotiators to break off the truce talks at Panmunjom. There is little else left for them to do, since the barrenness of their bargaining position has been thoroughly exposed.

The stumbling blocks in the path of a truce have been reduced to one—issue of repatriating prisoners. We flatly refuse to turn back to the Reds some 60,000 North Korean and Chinese who have said they do not wish to return. We will not commit them to death or slavery.

For the Communists this is obviously a bitter pill. They cannot bring themselves to admit before the world that there are 60,000 people familiar with Communist life who do not care to enjoy its "benefits" again.

Yet they will have to concede this if there is to be a truce. For we will not yield this point, and there is nothing else on which we can give way. That means that at last we are approaching the moment of real decision. At last we are going to find out whether the Reds really want a truce or not.

Suppose the answer is "no." What the military sequel will be is anybody's guess. Certainly we will try to keep the Korean war on a limited footing, even though we may adopt new measures not heretofore tried. Our commanders insist, too, that we have the substance to contain any new Red offensives, despite the big build-up the Communists have managed during the protracted truce talks.

It would be foolish to pretend that we would be "better off" under these altered circumstances. Almost nothing related to the Korean situation, either existing or foreseeable, is a subject for American cheers. Our choice seems to be from among varying degrees of badness.

What, for instance, would be the outlook for the 12,000 to 14,000 U. S. and Allied prisoners held by the Reds?

We need not fear that they would be executed, for the repercussions of the Russians' Katyn Forest massacre of Polish soldiers have been severe enough to convince the Kremlin that world opinion cannot be ignored. Yet there is no denying it would require long and painful negotiations—under new circumstances—to free these men.

They and their relatives at home would have to sweat out more months of what is unquestionably a nightmarish ordeal. Short of a yielding by the Reds on repatriation, there is no reasonable alternative.

If were to hand the Reds the prisoners who don't want to go back, we would suffer in several ways. Few Asiatic Communists ever would surrender again, since they would simply be faced with the choice of death at enemy hands or later death or slavery at Red hands. Communists fighting to the death in combat mean more American and Allied casualties.

Secondly, we would be committing a crime against humanity for which the world, and especially the Asiatic world, would never forgive us. Who would believe American talk of freedom if we were unwilling to protect men who want to be free?

The possible breakdown of truce talks is not something we can contemplate with satisfacton. But if these 300-odd days of indecision have nurtured false hopes of early peace, it is better that they be dashed. It is better to know the truth than to dream wildly of a day that may be far off.

UN HABEAS CORPUS

A Chicago attorney has drawn up a petition for a writ of habeas corpus which he would have served on the government of Czechoslovakia in the case of William Oatis, American newspaperman held prisoner by the Communists. The attorney believes that the writ could be issued by the United Nations. It is the first request for such legal action in the history of the United Nations.

Most observers of the United Nations doubt that it has any authority to issue binding writs on member nations. The dream of a world government efficient enough to protect all men from injustices is a long way from realization. But it is not an impossibility that some day an international court of justice, deriving its authority from the reasoned consent of all nations, will be able to protect the rights of men like Oatis who are imprisoned without just cause.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

AVERELL HARRIMAN

Normally, Averell Harriman is a quiet and peaceful person, too well groomed to be boastful, too secure to be bothered by such little things as personal criticism and ridicule. He inherited a great fortune from his father, E. H. Harriman, the railroad builder, and has employed it charmingly.

However, Averell Harriman is now abnormal, in the sense that he is sure that he can take on and lick anyone ten times his size, including Robert A. Taft, Ike Eisenhower, and the effervescent Estes Kefauver. Harriman had never taken on anybody before, which makes it difficult to appraise his fighting skill. He may have been hiding a punch in his gentle, shy manner. Or it may be petulance. In the past, he has been one of those who stand behind the chairs of so-called great men when the photographs are taken. It will be interesting to view this developing pugnacity to see what comes of it.

It would be beneficial to the country if Averell Harriman were nominated for President by the Democrats. It would mean that the foreign policy would be debated with anger and irritation. Should Kefauver or Stevenson be nominated, it would be difficult to hold them responsible for the errors in foreign policy of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry Truman, George Marshall or Dean Acheson. They could easily say, if they wished, that while they supported the positions taken by the leaders of their party, they nevertheless had not been personally involved in any important capacity in such matters. They were partisans but not responsible.

Averell Harriman has been involved in the development of the entire Roosevelt foreign policy. He was a close personal and political companion of Franklin D. Roosevelt, who liked to have him around. Most of those near to the throne, including Sam Rosenman, have gone to the printers with their inside stories. The two who have refrained from such exhibitions of fact and memory are Averell Harriman and George Marshall. They have not told us what the great man told them, or what they themselves saw and did.

Harriman was present at the following important conferences at which the American foreign policy was formed: Casablanca, First Quebec, Moscow (Oct. 1943), First Cairo, Teheran, Yalta.

Kefauver and Taft were present at none of them.

Eisenhower was present at these conferences: Casablanca, First Cairo, Second Cairo.

As a matter of record, Harriman has played a longer and more continuous role in the development of our policy of appeasement of Stalin, of the give-away ideas which have prevailed from Harry Hopkins to Paul Hoffman, of the subordination of American to British interests than Dean Acheson. Actually, Acheson came into this as a leading figure later than Harriman, who has continued at it to this day.

Therefore, Harriman is to be taken seriously. As a target, he is superior to Kefauver and Stevenson. As a defender, he may be able to explain what actually happened at Yalta—about which we still know so little.

It is not surprising that in his new lionlike mood Averell Harriman believes that he can take on Senator Taft. All he could do would be to conduct a smear campaign in which the Taft-Hartley Law would loom large. Harriman, once a Republican, swallowed the New Deal whole. It would be possible to forecast all of Harriman's speeches of this type in advance.

When, however, he says that he can lick General Eisenhower, he stirs interest. General Eisenhower, except for two speeches in general terms, has taken no position on domestic problems. His field has been European affairs. He has even avoided being involved in the Far Eastern controversy.

Therefore, if he is to be defeated by Harriman, who says that he can do it, the procedure must be to attack Eisenhower's record in World War II, and in the handling of post-war matters, including NATO. Only in this realm is he presently vulnerable.

Does then the Harriman threat mean that if Harriman runs against Eisenhower, Harry Truman will open the files of the Pentagon and the State Department to be used against the Republican candidate? For that is where the usable record is, whatever it may be. If Harriman will not use that record, what weapon does he possess that Kefauver does not have? Harriman says that he alone can lick everybody. What with? It would be interesting to discover.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

DIFFICULTY WITH READING

Many adults may wonder if children today get as good grounding in their first few years at school as was given them when they were youngsters. Without going into details too much, I personally believe that the training youngsters get in speaking to the other members of the class on a subject with which they are familiar is much ahead of the training we received as youngsters when we simply read out of the prescribed book.

In the South Carolina Medical Journal, Florence, Dr. J. W. Jervey states that of 2,000,000 (two million) new pupils each year in the United States, nearly 300,000 (about 1 in 7) fail for want of reading skill. More boys than girls have difficulty and it may occur in pupils with a high intelligence.

Three times as many cases of dyslexia (inability to read properly) have resulted when flash methods of teaching have been used alone as when phonetical (teaching by voice) has been used. The more rapid techniques or methods are excellent for most children but some must learn by the slower but dependable means.

It has been shown that beginners do better when they can name and write capital and small letters. Dr. Jervey points out that where too much emphasis has been placed on speed, some pupils have a sense of defeat and conflict, which can of itself produce inability to read. "The most experienced, most intelligent, and highest-paid teachers should teach in the primary or beginner grades rather than those with least experience as is now the practice."

As in other life conditions and occupations, emotional disturbances may be a factor in difficulty in reading but many problem children have improved in behavior when reading difficulty has been cured. Difficulty in reading appears to be commoner in persons with mixed mental dominance, that is, in persons who are left-handed with a dominant or stronger right eye than left, or vice versa. Because of the eye disturbance, the eye specialist is often consulted but phorias (adjustment and equilibrium of eye muscles not normal) occur with both good and bad readers.

Dr. Jervey points out further that children who have difficulty with reading cannot all be taught alike with "progressive" methods but must begin with the most elementary work, regardless of their school grades, to prevent confusion of mind.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Usually placid "Uncle" Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, practically burned up the telecommunications between Washington and Tokyo the other night over the Korean-prisoner snafu.

Bradley came down to the Pentagon at 8:30 p. m. after Brig. Gen. Charles Colson had published his statement of concessions given to obtain the release of Brig. Gen. Francis Dodd. And he stayed there until 11:30 p. m., exchanging caustic comments with Gen. Mark Clark, who had stepped off his plane three days before to find himself in a hornets' nest.

Here are the highlights of the bawling-out General Bradley gave to the staff in Tokyo. It indicates how seriously the Koje Island fiasco upset Washington and our international relations.

"Colson's agreement with prisoners of war received wide treatment with sensational headlines," Bradley opened his talk with Tokyo. "It effects propaganda position with rest of world very bad."

Bradley then angrily commented on the agreement that Colson reached with the prisoners.

"Colson says in the future all prisoners of war can expect 'humane treatment in this camp according to the principles of international law'," commented General Bradley. "This implies that we have not been giving them humane treatment according to the principles of international law. Our understanding here is that they have always received humane treatment and that the principles of international law have been continually upheld. . .

"Colson states: 'I will do all within my power to eliminate further violence and bloodshed.' It is assumed that we have always taken all steps possible to prevent violence and bloodshed but that violence on the part of the prisoners has in some cases led to bloodshed and that Colson made this statement merely to satisfy Communist demands. . . .

Who Is Responsible?

"Colson stated that if such incidents appear in the future he would be responsible," continued the chairman of the joint chiefs. "Difficult to understand this statement because it is our understanding that all previous cases have been caused by the action of the prisoners themselves. . . .

"Colson states: 'I can inform you that after General Dodd's release there will be no more forcible screening or any rearming of prisoners of war in this camp, nor will any attempt be made at nominal screening.'

"This statement seems to violate our principles on which the whole armistice negotiations now hang. As to the rearming of prisoners of war, we have no information here that prisoners of war in the camps have ever been rearmed."

Bradley, still hot under the collar, added in his trans-Pacific talk with General Clark: "You stated that Colson's reply was made under duress and that the Communists' demands were unadulterated blackmail and any commitments by General Colson as a result of such demands should be interpreted accordingly. This has raised the question in the minds of the press and the public as to whether Colson's commitments will be honored. Need to know here soonest what your intentions are and what you would recommend."

Clark's Reply

Clark replied: "By virtue of Colson's assignment as camp commander he necessarily assumes responsibility for all incidents which occur." Clark then told Bradley that he was directing "General Van Fleet to relieve Colson from command at Koje-do during the period of investigation."

In further reply to Bradley's long tirade, Clark said: "It is difficult for us, too, to understand Colson's statement. Suggest public statement indicating that clarification will come from investigation now under way." So far, Clark's report on the investigation has not been completed.

In reply to Bradley's remarks about rearming prisoners, Clark declared flatly: "No prisoner of war has been armed, nor is it contemplated that any prisoner of war will be armed for any purpose. Colson states that Communist leaders at Koje-do clearly referred to possibility that prisoners of war and civilian internees transferred to South Korea would be rearmed and pressed into service against Communist forces."

Note—Basic trouble with Korean prisoners boils down to the following: 1. Second-rate army personnel are usually put in charge of prisoners; 2. We have dealt too leniently with prisoners in order to win them away from the Communists; 3. Tough Orientals don't understand western fairness; 4. Instead of shipping Korean prisoners off to Okinawa or some place far from Korea they have been kept close to Korea for possible repatriation after the truce talks. Incorrigible prisoners should have been taken to a far-off Pacific island and kept there.

Washington Pipeline

Entering the cabinet meeting recently, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer was asked: "Are you going to the Chicago convention?" . . . "I can't," he said, "I was defeated." . . . Running for delegate in Ohio, Sawyer was swamped by the Kefauver landslide. . . . Indiana's Sen. Bill Jenner isn't worried about Democratic opposition, but he is really jittery lest his own party put a candidate in the field against him. Eisenhower Republicans don't like Jenner's strong pro-Taft, isolationist record, would like to see him defeated. . . . The Columbia Broadcasting System recently ordered its Washington TV outlet, WTOP, not to show a paid political film, plugging Senator Kefauver for president. The Kefauver commercial was supposed to be shown between President Truman's television tour of the White House and the Kentucky Derby. But, four hours after the commercial had been sold, WTOP phoned Kefauver's advertising agency and canceled the ad. At first, CBS begged the agency to withdraw the commercial. But when the Kefauver people refused, CBS ordered the commercial canceled on the grounds that it was poor taste, coming right after the White House tour. . . . TV Station WMBR in Jacksonville also accepted a Kefauver film, then canceled it.

Essay Contest on Value of Milk

Announcement of an essay contest for New York state school pupils from grades 7 through 12 as part of the 1952 celebration of June as Dairy Month was made today by George J. Silkworth, chairman of the local Dairy Month committee. Based on the theme "Why Everyone Should Drink Milk," the essay contest will be conducted on two levels with equal prizes for statewide winners among pupils in grades 7 through 9 and in grades 10 through 12.

Top state award in each group will be a $500. U. S. Savings Bond, with $250 bonds going to second place winners in each group. Four other awards, consisting of bonds valued at $100, $75, $50, and $25 will be awarded for third through sixth place winners in each group. In addition a prize of $25 will be awarded to local contest winners in each group.

The essay contest locally is open to pupils of the Myron J. Michael School and the Kingston High School, except those whose parents are employed by a milk company. Initial judging of essays will be done on the local level with community and area winners forwarded to state judges who will select the grand prize winners.

Sponsored by the New York State Milk Distributors, Inc. and endorsed by the New York State Departments of Commerce, Education and Agriculture and Markets, the contest is intended to help the young people of the state become better acquainted with the health-giving benefits of milk and other dairy products.

During the month of June, New York state will join with the rest of the nation in the annual celebration of Dairy Month, the 1952 theme of which will be "Good Eating For All Ages."

Area residents named to judge local entries in the essay contests were announced by George J. Silkworth as follows: Doris Gearhart, director of the Dairy Council of the Mid-Hudson area; Robert O'Reilly, accountant; John Warren, reporter on the Kingston Daily Freeman; Martha M. Barnett, head of the English Dept. K.H.S.; Howard C. St. John, local attorney.

Book on More Perfect World

The Rev. Herbert W. Hahn, who served as pastor of the Hurleyville and Neversink Methodist Churches from 1935 to 1938 and who now is pastor of the First Methodist Church in Lee, Massachusetts, has written a book, "Building A More Perfect World", which has been published by the Vantage Press in New York city. It deals with the basic issues of our time—race relations, economic relations, the family, education, freedom and democracy, missionary work, and the ever-present problem of preserving peace.

The Rev. Mr. Hahn has faith in the Charter of the United Nations, and believes that it should be carried out in spirit and letter. Christianity and the United Nations, he feels, are the last hope for enduring peace on earth, and good will toward men.

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, resident Bishop of the New York Area of the Methodist Church; and one of the six Co-Presidents of the World Council of Churches, has written the Introduction to this book.

The Rev. Mr. Hahn won a citation in a "National Sermon of the Week" Contest, in which more than a thousand ministers participated, three years ago. His sermon, "Building A More Perfect World", was read over Radio Station WMCA in New York City, by the actor, Ian Hunter.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Being Proud Can Be Very Dangerous

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

One of the funniest incidents of the recent Texas Conference Tournament in San Antonio came during the defense of the hand shown today. West was proud of himself for making the killing opening lead, but pride went before a fall.

East won the first trick with the jack of diamonds and very astutely decided to continue the suit with the ace and then a third round. South stewed over the third diamond for a while and then played the king of hearts.

"Aha!" West exulted. "Can't get better than a king for my ace." And he chuckled triumphantly as he over-ruffed with the ace of hearts.

Of course South made his contract. He won the club return, laid down the queen of hearts, and claimed the rest of the tricks with quiet satisfaction.

East was not satisfied; nor was he quiet. He pointed out that West could have set the contract if he hadn't been so triumphant.

West should have discarded instead of over-ruffing at the third trick. Then he was bound to win two trump tricks with his ace and jack.

The most curious part of the story is that West is really a good enough player to see this kind of play a mile off. He was just too busy being proud of himself to play his best game.

Maybe there's a moral in this story, but I won't insist on it.

Veterans Warned To Make Checks

Washington, May 17 (AP)—The Veterans Administration today warned veterans behind in their payments on GI home loans to check carefully on any offers by strangers to pay up back installments if they sign on the dotted line.

The dotted line, the VA explained, has too often turned out to be on a deed, and the veteran has lost his home or found himself forced to pay extra money to retain it.

"In some parts of the country a revival of the practice sometimes called milking or equity skinning has occurred," the VA said in a news release.

"Although these practices may be legal, they are considered unethical by the vast majority of mortgage lenders and real estate brokers."

Actress Awaits Twins

Rome, May 17 (AP)—Ingrid Bergman was in a hospital today, awaiting the birth of expected twins. An attendant at Rome's Salvatore Mundi Hospital, said that the Swedish film star and wife of Roberto Rossellini, ace director, went to the hospital two days ago.

REDS MUST SWALLOW BITTER PILL

The Communists are now daring UN negotiators to break off the truce talks at Panmunjom. There is little else left for them to do, since the barrenness of their bargaining position has been thoroughly exposed.

The stumbling blocks in the path of a truce have been reduced to one—issue of repatriating prisoners. We flatly refuse to turn back to the Reds some 60,000 North Korean and Chinese who have said they do not wish to return. We will not commit them to death or slavery.

For the Communists this is obviously a bitter pill. They cannot bring themselves to admit before the world that there are 60,000 people familiar with Communist life who do not care to enjoy its "benefits" again.

Yet they will have to concede this if there is to be a truce. For we will not yield this point, and there is nothing else on which we can give way. That means that at last we are approaching the moment of real decision. At last we are going to find out whether the Reds really want a truce or not.

Suppose the answer is "no." What the military sequel will be is anybody's guess. Certainly we will try to keep the Korean war on a limited footing, even though we may adopt new measures not heretofore tried. Our commanders insist, too, that we have the substance to contain any new Red offensives, despite the big build-up the Communists have managed during the protracted truce talks.

It would be foolish to pretend that we would be "better off" under these altered circumstances. Almost nothing related to the Korean situation, either existing or foreseeable, is a subject for American cheers. Our choice seems to be from among varying degrees of badness.

What, for instance, would be the outlook for the 12,000 to 14,000 U. S. and Allied prisoners held by the Reds?

We need not fear that they would be executed, for the repercussions of the Russians' Katyn Forest massacre of Polish soldiers have been severe enough to convince the Kremlin that world opinion cannot be ignored. Yet there is no denying it would require long and painful negotiations—under new circumstances—to free these men.

They and their relatives at home would have to sweat out more months of what is unquestionably a nightmarish ordeal. Short of a yielding by the Reds on repatriation, there is no reasonable alternative.

If were to hand the Reds the prisoners who don't want to go back, we would suffer in several ways. Few Asiatic Communists ever would surrender again, since they would simply be faced with the choice of death at enemy hands or later death or slavery at Red hands. Communists fighting to the death in combat mean more American and Allied casualties.

Secondly, we would be committing a crime against humanity for which the world, and especially the Asiatic world, would never forgive us. Who would believe American talk of freedom if we were unwilling to protect men who want to be free?

The possible breakdown of truce talks is not something we can contemplate with satisfacton. But if these 300-odd days of indecision have nurtured false hopes of early peace, it is better that they be dashed. It is better to know the truth than to dream wildly of a day that may be far off.

UN HABEAS CORPUS

A Chicago attorney has drawn up a petition for a writ of habeas corpus which he would have served on the government of Czechoslovakia in the case of William Oatis, American newspaperman held prisoner by the Communists. The attorney believes that the writ could be issued by the United Nations. It is the first request for such legal action in the history of the United Nations.

Most observers of the United Nations doubt that it has any authority to issue binding writs on member nations. The dream of a world government efficient enough to protect all men from injustices is a long way from realization. But it is not an impossibility that some day an international court of justice, deriving its authority from the reasoned consent of all nations, will be able to protect the rights of men like Oatis who are imprisoned without just cause.

'These Days'

AVERELL HARRIMAN

Normally, Averell Harriman is a quiet and peaceful person, too well groomed to be boastful, too secure to be bothered by such little things as personal criticism and ridicule. He inherited a great fortune from his father, E. H. Harriman, the railroad builder, and has employed it charmingly.

However, Averell Harriman is now abnormal, in the sense that he is sure that he can take on and lick anyone ten times his size, including Robert A. Taft, Ike Eisenhower, and the effervescent Estes Kefauver. Harriman had never taken on anybody before, which makes it difficult to appraise his fighting skill. He may have been hiding a punch in his gentle, shy manner. Or it may be petulance. In the past, he has been one of those who stand behind the chairs of so-called great men when the photographs are taken. It will be interesting to view this developing pugnacity to see what comes of it.

It would be beneficial to the country if Averell Harriman were nominated for President by the Democrats. It would mean that the foreign policy would be debated with anger and irritation. Should Kefauver or Stevenson be nominated, it would be difficult to hold them responsible for the errors in foreign policy of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry Truman, George Marshall or Dean Acheson. They could easily say, if they wished, that while they supported the positions taken by the leaders of their party, they nevertheless had not been personally involved in any important capacity in such matters. They were partisans but not responsible.

Averell Harriman has been involved in the development of the entire Roosevelt foreign policy. He was a close personal and political companion of Franklin D. Roosevelt, who liked to have him around. Most of those near to the throne, including Sam Rosenman, have gone to the printers with their inside stories. The two who have refrained from such exhibitions of fact and memory are Averell Harriman and George Marshall. They have not told us what the great man told them, or what they themselves saw and did.

Harriman was present at the following important conferences at which the American foreign policy was formed: Casablanca, First Quebec, Moscow (Oct. 1943), First Cairo, Teheran, Yalta.

Kefauver and Taft were present at none of them.

Eisenhower was present at these conferences: Casablanca, First Cairo, Second Cairo.

As a matter of record, Harriman has played a longer and more continuous role in the development of our policy of appeasement of Stalin, of the give-away ideas which have prevailed from Harry Hopkins to Paul Hoffman, of the subordination of American to British interests than Dean Acheson. Actually, Acheson came into this as a leading figure later than Harriman, who has continued at it to this day.

Therefore, Harriman is to be taken seriously. As a target, he is superior to Kefauver and Stevenson. As a defender, he may be able to explain what actually happened at Yalta—about which we still know so little.

It is not surprising that in his new lionlike mood Averell Harriman believes that he can take on Senator Taft. All he could do would be to conduct a smear campaign in which the Taft-Hartley Law would loom large. Harriman, once a Republican, swallowed the New Deal whole. It would be possible to forecast all of Harriman's speeches of this type in advance.

When, however, he says that he can lick General Eisenhower, he stirs interest. General Eisenhower, except for two speeches in general terms, has taken no position on domestic problems. His field has been European affairs. He has even avoided being involved in the Far Eastern controversy.

Therefore, if he is to be defeated by Harriman, who says that he can do it, the procedure must be to attack Eisenhower's record in World War II, and in the handling of post-war matters, including NATO. Only in this realm is he presently vulnerable.

Does then the Harriman threat mean that if Harriman runs against Eisenhower, Harry Truman will open the files of the Pentagon and the State Department to be used against the Republican candidate? For that is where the usable record is, whatever it may be. If Harriman will not use that record, what weapon does he possess that Kefauver does not have? Harriman says that he alone can lick everybody. What with? It would be interesting to discover.

That Body of Yours

DIFFICULTY WITH READING

Many adults may wonder if children today get as good grounding in their first few years at school as was given them when they were youngsters. Without going into details too much, I personally believe that the training youngsters get in speaking to the other members of the class on a subject with which they are familiar is much ahead of the training we received as youngsters when we simply read out of the prescribed book.

In the South Carolina Medical Journal, Florence, Dr. J. W. Jervey states that of 2,000,000 (two million) new pupils each year in the United States, nearly 300,000 (about 1 in 7) fail for want of reading skill. More boys than girls have difficulty and it may occur in pupils with a high intelligence.

Three times as many cases of dyslexia (inability to read properly) have resulted when flash methods of teaching have been used alone as when phonetical (teaching by voice) has been used. The more rapid techniques or methods are excellent for most children but some must learn by the slower but dependable means.

It has been shown that beginners do better when they can name and write capital and small letters. Dr. Jervey points out that where too much emphasis has been placed on speed, some pupils have a sense of defeat and conflict, which can of itself produce inability to read. "The most experienced, most intelligent, and highest-paid teachers should teach in the primary or beginner grades rather than those with least experience as is now the practice."

As in other life conditions and occupations, emotional disturbances may be a factor in difficulty in reading but many problem children have improved in behavior when reading difficulty has been cured. Difficulty in reading appears to be commoner in persons with mixed mental dominance, that is, in persons who are left-handed with a dominant or stronger right eye than left, or vice versa. Because of the eye disturbance, the eye specialist is often consulted but phorias (adjustment and equilibrium of eye muscles not normal) occur with both good and bad readers.

Dr. Jervey points out further that children who have difficulty with reading cannot all be taught alike with "progressive" methods but must begin with the most elementary work, regardless of their school grades, to prevent confusion of mind.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Usually placid "Uncle" Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, practically burned up the telecommunications between Washington and Tokyo the other night over the Korean-prisoner snafu.

Bradley came down to the Pentagon at 8:30 p. m. after Brig. Gen. Charles Colson had published his statement of concessions given to obtain the release of Brig. Gen. Francis Dodd. And he stayed there until 11:30 p. m., exchanging caustic comments with Gen. Mark Clark, who had stepped off his plane three days before to find himself in a hornets' nest.

Here are the highlights of the bawling-out General Bradley gave to the staff in Tokyo. It indicates how seriously the Koje Island fiasco upset Washington and our international relations.

"Colson's agreement with prisoners of war received wide treatment with sensational headlines," Bradley opened his talk with Tokyo. "It effects propaganda position with rest of world very bad."

Bradley then angrily commented on the agreement that Colson reached with the prisoners.

"Colson says in the future all prisoners of war can expect 'humane treatment in this camp according to the principles of international law'," commented General Bradley. "This implies that we have not been giving them humane treatment according to the principles of international law. Our understanding here is that they have always received humane treatment and that the principles of international law have been continually upheld. . .

"Colson states: 'I will do all within my power to eliminate further violence and bloodshed.' It is assumed that we have always taken all steps possible to prevent violence and bloodshed but that violence on the part of the prisoners has in some cases led to bloodshed and that Colson made this statement merely to satisfy Communist demands. . . .

Who Is Responsible?

"Colson stated that if such incidents appear in the future he would be responsible," continued the chairman of the joint chiefs. "Difficult to understand this statement because it is our understanding that all previous cases have been caused by the action of the prisoners themselves. . . .

"Colson states: 'I can inform you that after General Dodd's release there will be no more forcible screening or any rearming of prisoners of war in this camp, nor will any attempt be made at nominal screening.'

"This statement seems to violate our principles on which the whole armistice negotiations now hang. As to the rearming of prisoners of war, we have no information here that prisoners of war in the camps have ever been rearmed."

Bradley, still hot under the collar, added in his trans-Pacific talk with General Clark: "You stated that Colson's reply was made under duress and that the Communists' demands were unadulterated blackmail and any commitments by General Colson as a result of such demands should be interpreted accordingly. This has raised the question in the minds of the press and the public as to whether Colson's commitments will be honored. Need to know here soonest what your intentions are and what you would recommend."

Clark's Reply

Clark replied: "By virtue of Colson's assignment as camp commander he necessarily assumes responsibility for all incidents which occur." Clark then told Bradley that he was directing "General Van Fleet to relieve Colson from command at Koje-do during the period of investigation."

In further reply to Bradley's long tirade, Clark said: "It is difficult for us, too, to understand Colson's statement. Suggest public statement indicating that clarification will come from investigation now under way." So far, Clark's report on the investigation has not been completed.

In reply to Bradley's remarks about rearming prisoners, Clark declared flatly: "No prisoner of war has been armed, nor is it contemplated that any prisoner of war will be armed for any purpose. Colson states that Communist leaders at Koje-do clearly referred to possibility that prisoners of war and civilian internees transferred to South Korea would be rearmed and pressed into service against Communist forces."

Note—Basic trouble with Korean prisoners boils down to the following: 1. Second-rate army personnel are usually put in charge of prisoners; 2. We have dealt too leniently with prisoners in order to win them away from the Communists; 3. Tough Orientals don't understand western fairness; 4. Instead of shipping Korean prisoners off to Okinawa or some place far from Korea they have been kept close to Korea for possible repatriation after the truce talks. Incorrigible prisoners should have been taken to a far-off Pacific island and kept there.

Washington Pipeline

Entering the cabinet meeting recently, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer was asked: "Are you going to the Chicago convention?" . . . "I can't," he said, "I was defeated." . . . Running for delegate in Ohio, Sawyer was swamped by the Kefauver landslide. . . . Indiana's Sen. Bill Jenner isn't worried about Democratic opposition, but he is really jittery lest his own party put a candidate in the field against him. Eisenhower Republicans don't like Jenner's strong pro-Taft, isolationist record, would like to see him defeated. . . . The Columbia Broadcasting System recently ordered its Washington TV outlet, WTOP, not to show a paid political film, plugging Senator Kefauver for president. The Kefauver commercial was supposed to be shown between President Truman's television tour of the White House and the Kentucky Derby. But, four hours after the commercial had been sold, WTOP phoned Kefauver's advertising agency and canceled the ad. At first, CBS begged the agency to withdraw the commercial. But when the Kefauver people refused, CBS ordered the commercial canceled on the grounds that it was poor taste, coming right after the White House tour. . . . TV Station WMBR in Jacksonville also accepted a Kefauver film, then canceled it.

East won the first trick with the jack of diamonds and very astutely decided to continue the suit with the ace and then a third round. South stewed over the third diamond for a while and then played the king of hearts.

"Aha!" West exulted. "Can't get better than a king for my ace." And he chuckled triumphantly as he over-ruffed with the ace of hearts.

Of course South made his contract. He won the club return, laid down the queen of hearts, and claimed the rest of the tricks with quiet satisfaction.

East was not satisfied; nor was he quiet. He pointed out that West could have set the contract if he hadn't been so triumphant.

West should have discarded instead of over-ruffing at the third trick. Then he was bound to win two trump tricks with his ace and jack.

The most curious part of the story is that West is really a good enough player to see this kind of play a mile off. He was just too busy being proud of himself to play his best game.

Maybe there's a moral in this story, but I won't insist on it.

Veterans Warned To Make Checks

Washington, May 17 (AP)—The Veterans Administration today warned veterans behind in their payments on GI home loans to check carefully on any offers by strangers to pay up back installments if they sign on the dotted line.

The dotted line, the VA explained, has too often turned out to be on a deed, and the veteran has lost his home or found himself forced to pay extra money to retain it.

"In some parts of the country a revival of the practice sometimes called milking or equity skinning has occurred," the VA said in a news release.

"Although these practices may be legal, they are considered unethical by the vast majority of mortgage lenders and real estate brokers."

Actress Awaits Twins

Rome, May 17 (AP)—Ingrid Bergman was in a hospital today, awaiting the birth of expected twins. An attendant at Rome's Salvatore Mundi Hospital, said that the Swedish film star and wife of Roberto Rossellini, ace director, went to the hospital two days ago.

To Survive, Liberal Arts Colleges Must Keep Pace With Science, Observes Noted Educator

If Liberal Arts Colleges are to continue and progress, they must keep pace with science, said Dr. Ruth Andrus of Saugerties, a noted educator, who advocated a liberal arts education for all, because it offers unlimited possibilities in contributing to a fuller and happier life for the individual.

Exceptional Background

Until her retirement earlier this month, Dr. Andrus was chief of the Bureau of Child Development and Parent Education in the New York State Department of Education. Within the department, since 1933, she was in charge of the education programs for the very young child and in the field of parent education. Beginning in September, Dr. Andrus will be affiliated, as a research coordinator, at the Cold Spring project of the Walt Foundation, a post-graduate school for college graduates, men and women, of 60 years of age or older.

Dr. Andrus was graduated from Vassar College and holds a doctor's degree from Columbia University. She is nationally known through her publications in the field of child psychology and her active memberships in educational and psychological organizations.

On Bard College Board

A member of the board of trustees of Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson, Dr. Andrus is also chairman of the education policy committee of the trustees, and a board member of the Banks Street College Institute in New York. For several years prior to her affiliation with the New York State Department of Education, she was academic dean and dean of women at Kentucky College for Women and later was associated with Teachers College, Columbia University as associate professor and director of the Institute for Child Welfare Research.

Will Be a Sad Loss

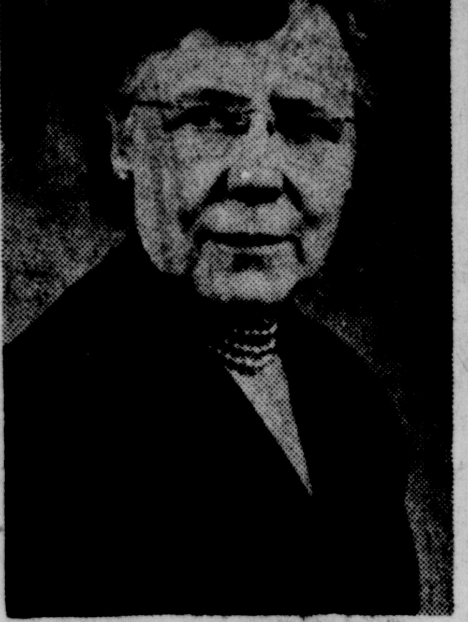
A petite and gracious lady, the noted educator interviewed in her charming home, surrounded by a wealth of spring flowering shrubs and flowers, and located high in the hills, looking out across a beautiful and extensive view to and beyond the Hudson river, Dr. Andrus voiced alarm over the current financial situation of the better known Liberal Arts Colleges. "People don't see the need for liberal arts education today," she said. "It will indeed be a sad loss if, because of a lack of financial support, our liberal arts colleges are lost."

Dr. Andrus explained that the income of most of these colleges is inadequate to compensate for the ever rising cost of maintenance, salaries, and other necessary expenses to keep the institutions operating.

Liberal Arts Necessary

"I think a liberal arts education is good. It is the best kind of preparation for whatever profession a person chooses to pursue later. Dr. Andrus also pointed out that this type of education is "excellent preparation for family living in the sense of its being a general background arousing a general awareness and sensitivity to the world about; and contributing a greater interest and knowledge of people and forces in the world. This type of background is just as important to women in the home as it is for the men and women in professions."

When asked to give her views upon the question of the survival of liberal arts colleges, Dr. Andrus thoughfully said, "that is a terrific question. Those of us who are interested, are frankly worried. We have got to make clear their especial and important contribution, and promote the blessing of such an educational background.



RUTH ANDRUS

Continuing the thought, Dr. Andrus expressed the hope that these colleges might not have to resort to Federal aid as a means of survival. The idea of the institutions getting together and pooling resources was considered in a favorable light.

Commends Bard

When asked to draw upon her broad knowledge of the history of education and cite a parallel between the present day situation in science as against liberal arts, Dr. Andrus said, "I think the liberal arts must become functional rather than academic." She named many colleges which have adopted this idea including Bard, Bennington, Mills, Antioch and Sarah Lawrence. "They do a good job," she commented.

Bard College was particularly named as "a splendid example of an institution where the student through proper guidance, learns to make choices and accept responsibility while being productive and creative."

Function Better

"A liberal arts education can help people to function better," she reiterated, "it is not the mere acquisition of academic pursuits." Speaking of advantages gained through the study of Latin and Greek, "I am not sorry I had this foundation. One gets something from these studies. I think they serve to create a better understanding of the continuity of human structure and the development of civilization. This can be be achieved through the more modern technique of visual education."

Dr. Andrus cautioned, however, that while visual education can do much, it must be realized that more than one medium is necessary for general appeal.

Toward Specialization

"We are tending, far too much, toward specialization in education," she said, and remarked that in her opinion this was very bad, particularly in the medical profession but true of all the professions. "They should not be reduced to such a narrow range."

One of the reasons given for the decline in interest in the liberal arts was described when Dr. Andrus said, "If liberal arts does not adapt itself to our present culture but tries to remain a thing apart, those colleges will die fast." She then spoke of the progress made during the past 25 years in the scientific field, and noted, "education has not gone along with science."

Understanding Motives

The application of a liberal arts educational background was briefly outlined as Dr. Andrus touched lightly upon its association with good mental health and its assistance, not only in understanding one's own motives and actions, but those of others as well.

In spite of an acknowledged tenseness existing in the world today, mothers generally seem less rigid and more natural with their children. Dr. Andrus attributed this, in part, to the interest mothers were taking in the parent-educational program sponsored through workshops in the public schools. The discussions held in the workshops are "helping mothers to understand their children's feelings, as well as their own," she said.

Giving Security

Drawing upon her wide experience, she traced a feeling of insecurity, so prevalent today, back to cradle days. "A baby from its earliest infancy needs to be cuddled by its mother. It gives him a feeling of trust which is developed as he grows. Without this love, he will grow up feeling rejected." The realization of this fundamental principle is so great that public institutions caring for babies and very young children, make every effort to supply adult love as a most necessary adjunct. Without it, the children grow up lacking trust in themselves and others which definitely hinders them at every stage of life.

Before concluding the interview, Dr. Andrus remarked that liberal arts education in general has not gone along with science. "It works on any level, unless you can take the information that we have been able to gather and make it function for the betterment of all people, it is wasted. Liberal Arts is not doing it, and this must be changed."

Bronx Male Singers

To Appear Here Sunday

Sunday at 3:30 p. m., St. Mark's AME Church will present the Bronx Good Will Singers, a group of 18 male voices, under the direction of Mrs. Allie Hart, in a concert of old and new songs melodiously arranged and harmoniously sung.

This group is well-known for its fine work among the churches in New York and New Jersey. The public is invited.

K.H.S. News

Dog Show Saturday

Between 30 and 40 entries are expected at the annual Dog Lovers' Club Show Saturday at Dr. Gilbert Hoppenstedt's place, Rosendale road on Route 32.

Some of the classes in the show are: mixed breed, pedigree, obedience trial, puppy show, and special classes such as largest dog and smallest dog.

Band in Contest

Twenty-eight members of the Kingston High School Band will compete in the state music contest at Yonkers May 23. The band itself, under the direction of Marlin Morrette, also will compete, while two special contest features will be clarinet quartet, a brass sextet, and a drum duet.

Students entering the contest will include John Lelima, Ole Christensen, Pat Carr, John Roberti, Bell Campbell, Jane Howard, Bert Bishop, Lois Perry, Robert Coutant, Robert Pomeroy, Richard Lamoreaux, Martin Kelly, Robert Tellier and Robert Weisman.

Honor Society Induction

Manning Chapter of the National Honor Society held its annual spring induction of junior class members May 15. Fifteen students were elected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, service to the school, and character. Officers of the present society spoke on these qualifications for membership. The Rev. J. Dean Dykstra spoke to the students on the necessity of honor in any individual.

Those inducted were Sally Rose, Marni Paley, Nan Shurter, Patricia Bomer, Nancy Wilson, Ellen O'Reilly, Nancy Jackson, Joseph Suarez, Glen Edinger, Nadya Spassenko, Jeanne Rylance, Jean Wells, Shirley Craig, Rosa Tuerschmann, and Martha Davenport.

Following the regular school session, the society held a picnic in honor of all new members at Lawton Park.

New Club Formed

Another active organization composed of high school students is the B'nai B'rith Girls, who recently elected the officers for the next year. Natalie Alcon was elected president and Lorraine Margolis was elected counselor. The vice-president is Freida Cohen, and Naomi Laurie is the recording secretary. Sandra Margolis is the corresponding secretary and the new treasurer is Paula Volstein.

Scribe is Marilyn Alcon, and the permanent committee chairmen were also elected. They are Paula Weiner, membership; Roxanne Gershuny and Barbara Schwartzburg, co-chairmen of the program committee and Marcia Levine, sargent-at-arms, while Judy Svirsky is the sunshine comittee chairman.

Student on TV Show

Kingston High School students and their friends are reminded to tune in to Channel 11 for the Saturday 1 p. m. television show, The Correct Thing. At that time Joan Ortmann, a member of the Senior Class, will model her prize winning coat and will be awarded a check for $100 by Acme Shear Co. of Bridgeport, the amount received by first place winners. On Saturday she competes with other first place winners for the grand prize, an all expense paid trip to Bermuda. The winner also will be announced on the television program.

Clubs Name Officers

With the school year about completed a number of clubs have elected officers for next year.

Members of Maroon Masquers have chosen Sally Rose, president, and Barbara Warnecke, secretary. Glen Edinger, Ann Hornbeck and Fleurette Reon are the new president, vice president and treasurer respectively of the Journalism Club. Key Club's officers for next year are as follows: Art Harder, president; Dave Brower, secretary, and Richard Constant, treasurer.

Prisma Elections

The three remaining KHS classes have completed their elections for next year's Prisma officers.

Theresa Turck will be president of next year's senior Prisma with Rose Doyle as vice president and Eileen Sickler as secretary.

Next year's junior Prisma officers are Robin Strongin, president; Barbara Warnecke, vice president, and Joann Lee, secretary.

The sophomore's Prisma officers next year will be led by President Marilyn Johnson, Vice President Margaret Danford and Secretary Esther Schaffer.

Next year's main projects are the attempt to increase the senior Prisma scholarship and to sponsor a girl from a European country for one year of KHS. The Prisma Council must first approve these plans before they become effective.

Dental Training Class

Classes are now being held in the MJM School for the nine girls training for dental assistants. These girls learn from first hand experience how to assist a dentist at his work.

These classes are being held in an effort to help these girls recognize and know the fundamentals of dentistry that they would not ordinarily know by merely assisting.

Student Council Elections

Mike Flannigan, a junior of KHS, was elected president of Student Council for next year. The elections were held Tuesday morning and other candidates for president were Harold Carlson, Lynda Sulko and Richard Constant.

Barbara Chumura and Nancy Wilson were unopposed for the offices of vice president and secretary, respectively. For the office of treasurer, Toni McClellan won with a slight majority over Robin Strongin.

Constant Elected

An outstanding honor came to Kingston High School recently when Richard Constant was elected New York State Key Club Treasurer for 1952-53 at a club convention in Albany. The other KHS Key Club members who also attended the convention were Douglas Buddenhagen, the Hudson River Division lieutenant governor, and Arthur Harder, next year's Key Club president.

Maroon Due Soon

Kingston's annual school year book will be due for distribution Friday, June 13, according to the latest plans. Every student who attends KHS will appear in the Maroon at least once. Also, the Maroon may still be ordered from Samuel Vaughn in Room 155. Unquestionably, this year's Maroon will be a sell-out because of its timely theme, Kingston's 300th Anniversary, as it will contain pictures and other items of interest to all Kingstonians.

FNA Receives Lamp

The annual presentation of a Florence Nightingale Lamp, symbol of the highest ideals in nursing, was made to the Future Nurses of America, a high school organization whose members plan to make nursing a career. Marlene Cashin gave the history of the FNA from its founding in 1949. Melinda Keyes then gave a biographical sketch of Florence Nightingale. The Florence Nightingale pledge was also presented to the FNA by Miss Morse. Adeline Cates's sketch of Santa Filomena, by Longfellow concluded the program.

Jayvee Track

Kingston High's Jayvee track team competed in a triangular meet last week, with Cornwall and Marlborough as the other contestants. Kingston took second place. The Jayvee team consists of 25 members, some of which show promising talent. Several top men are Locke and Bonder, Presco in the 100 yard dash, Markle and Helmer. Bob Markle also may compete in varsity meets.

Liberal Arts Necessary

"I think a liberal arts education is good. It is the best kind of preparation for whatever profession a person chooses to pursue later. Dr. Andrus also pointed out that this type of education is "excellent preparation for family living in the sense of its being a general background arousing a general awareness and sensitivity to the world about; and contributing a greater interest and knowledge of people and forces in the world. This type of background is just as important to women in the home as it is for the men and women in professions."

When asked to give her views upon the question of the survival of liberal arts colleges, Dr. Andrus thoughfully said, "that is a terrific question. Those of us who are interested, are frankly worried. We have got to make clear their especial and important contribution, and promote the blessing of such an educational background.

Continuing the thought, Dr. Andrus expressed the hope that these colleges might not have to resort to Federal aid as a means of survival. The idea of the institutions getting together and pooling resources was considered in a favorable light.

Commends Bard

When asked to draw upon her broad knowledge of the history of education and cite a parallel between the present day situation in science as against liberal arts, Dr. Andrus said, "I think the liberal arts must become functional rather than academic." She named many colleges which have adopted this idea including Bard, Bennington, Mills, Antioch and Sarah Lawrence. "They do a good job," she commented.

Bard College was particularly named as "a splendid example of an institution where the student through proper guidance, learns to make choices and accept responsibility while being productive and creative."

Function Better

"A liberal arts education can help people to function better," she reiterated, "it is not the mere acquisition of academic pursuits." Speaking of advantages gained through the study of Latin and Greek, "I am not sorry I had this foundation. One gets something from these studies. I think they serve to create a better understanding of the continuity of human structure and the development of civilization. This can be be achieved through the more modern technique of visual education."

Dr. Andrus cautioned, however, that while visual education can do much, it must be realized that more than one medium is necessary for general appeal.

Toward Specialization

"We are tending, far too much, toward specialization in education," she said, and remarked that in her opinion this was very bad, particularly in the medical profession but true of all the professions. "They should not be reduced to such a narrow range."

One of the reasons given for the decline in interest in the liberal arts was described when Dr. Andrus said, "If liberal arts does not adapt itself to our present culture but tries to remain a thing apart, those colleges will die fast." She then spoke of the progress made during the past 25 years in the scientific field, and noted, "education has not gone along with science."

Understanding Motives

The application of a liberal arts educational background was briefly outlined as Dr. Andrus touched lightly upon its association with good mental health and its assistance, not only in understanding one's own motives and actions, but those of others as well.

In spite of an acknowledged tenseness existing in the world today, mothers generally seem less rigid and more natural with their children. Dr. Andrus attributed this, in part, to the interest mothers were taking in the parent-educational program sponsored through workshops in the public schools. The discussions held in the workshops are "helping mothers to understand their children's feelings, as well as their own," she said.

Giving Security

Drawing upon her wide experience, she traced a feeling of insecurity, so prevalent today, back to cradle days. "A baby from its earliest infancy needs to be cuddled by its mother. It gives him a feeling of trust which is developed as he grows. Without this love, he will grow up feeling rejected." The realization of this fundamental principle is so great that public institutions caring for babies and very young children, make every effort to supply adult love as a most necessary adjunct. Without it, the children grow up lacking trust in themselves and others which definitely hinders them at every stage of life.

Before concluding the interview, Dr. Andrus remarked that liberal arts education in general has not gone along with science. "It works on any level, unless you can take the information that we have been able to gather and make it function for the betterment of all people, it is wasted. Liberal Arts is not doing it, and this must be changed."

Bronx Male Singers

To Appear Here Sunday

Sunday at 3:30 p. m., St. Mark's AME Church will present the Bronx Good Will Singers, a group of 18 male voices, under the direction of Mrs. Allie Hart, in a concert of old and new songs melodiously arranged and harmoniously sung.

This group is well-known for its fine work among the churches in New York and New Jersey. The public is invited.

K.H.S. News

Dog Show Saturday

Between 30 and 40 entries are expected at the annual Dog Lovers' Club Show Saturday at Dr. Gilbert Hoppenstedt's place, Rosendale road on Route 32.

Some of the classes in the show are: mixed breed, pedigree, obedience trial, puppy show, and special classes such as largest dog and smallest dog.

Band in Contest

Twenty-eight members of the Kingston High School Band will compete in the state music contest at Yonkers May 23. The band itself, under the direction of Marlin Morrette, also will compete, while two special contest features will be clarinet quartet, a brass sextet, and a drum duet.

Students entering the contest will include John Lelima, Ole Christensen, Pat Carr, John Roberti, Bell Campbell, Jane Howard, Bert Bishop, Lois Perry, Robert Coutant, Robert Pomeroy, Richard Lamoreaux, Martin Kelly, Robert Tellier and Robert Weisman.

Honor Society Induction

Manning Chapter of the National Honor Society held its annual spring induction of junior class members May 15. Fifteen students were elected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, service to the school, and character. Officers of the present society spoke on these qualifications for membership. The Rev. J. Dean Dykstra spoke to the students on the necessity of honor in any individual.

Those inducted were Sally Rose, Marni Paley, Nan Shurter, Patricia Bomer, Nancy Wilson, Ellen O'Reilly, Nancy Jackson, Joseph Suarez, Glen Edinger, Nadya Spassenko, Jeanne Rylance, Jean Wells, Shirley Craig, Rosa Tuerschmann, and Martha Davenport.

Following the regular school session, the society held a picnic in honor of all new members at Lawton Park.

New Club Formed

Another active organization composed of high school students is the B'nai B'rith Girls, who recently elected the officers for the next year. Natalie Alcon was elected president and Lorraine Margolis was elected counselor. The vice-president is Freida Cohen, and Naomi Laurie is the recording secretary. Sandra Margolis is the corresponding secretary and the new treasurer is Paula Volstein.

Scribe is Marilyn Alcon, and the permanent committee chairmen were also elected. They are Paula Weiner, membership; Roxanne Gershuny and Barbara Schwartzburg, co-chairmen of the program committee and Marcia Levine, sargent-at-arms, while Judy Svirsky is the sunshine comittee chairman.

Student on TV Show

Kingston High School students and their friends are reminded to tune in to Channel 11 for the Saturday 1 p. m. television show, The Correct Thing. At that time Joan Ortmann, a member of the Senior Class, will model her prize winning coat and will be awarded a check for $100 by Acme Shear Co. of Bridgeport, the amount received by first place winners. On Saturday she competes with other first place winners for the grand prize, an all expense paid trip to Bermuda. The winner also will be announced on the television program.

Clubs Name Officers

With the school year about completed a number of clubs have elected officers for next year.

Members of Maroon Masquers have chosen Sally Rose, president, and Barbara Warnecke, secretary. Glen Edinger, Ann Hornbeck and Fleurette Reon are the new president, vice president and treasurer respectively of the Journalism Club. Key Club's officers for next year are as follows: Art Harder, president; Dave Brower, secretary, and Richard Constant, treasurer.

Prisma Elections

The three remaining KHS classes have completed their elections for next year's Prisma officers.

Theresa Turck will be president of next year's senior Prisma with Rose Doyle as vice president and Eileen Sickler as secretary.

Next year's junior Prisma officers are Robin Strongin, president; Barbara Warnecke, vice president, and Joann Lee, secretary.

The sophomore's Prisma officers next year will be led by President Marilyn Johnson, Vice President Margaret Danford and Secretary Esther Schaffer.

Next year's main projects are the attempt to increase the senior Prisma scholarship and to sponsor a girl from a European country for one year of KHS. The Prisma Council must first approve these plans before they become effective.

Dental Training Class

Classes are now being held in the MJM School for the nine girls training for dental assistants. These girls learn from first hand experience how to assist a dentist at his work.

These classes are being held in an effort to help these girls recognize and know the fundamentals of dentistry that they would not ordinarily know by merely assisting.

Student Council Elections

Mike Flannigan, a junior of KHS, was elected president of Student Council for next year. The elections were held Tuesday morning and other candidates for president were Harold Carlson, Lynda Sulko and Richard Constant.

Barbara Chumura and Nancy Wilson were unopposed for the offices of vice president and secretary, respectively. For the office of treasurer, Toni McClellan won with a slight majority over Robin Strongin.

Constant Elected

An outstanding honor came to Kingston High School recently when Richard Constant was elected New York State Key Club Treasurer for 1952-53 at a club convention in Albany. The other KHS Key Club members who also attended the convention were Douglas Buddenhagen, the Hudson River Division lieutenant governor, and Arthur Harder, next year's Key Club president.

Maroon Due Soon

Kingston's annual school year book will be due for distribution Friday, June 13, according to the latest plans. Every student who attends KHS will appear in the Maroon at least once. Also, the Maroon may still be ordered from Samuel Vaughn in Room 155. Unquestionably, this year's Maroon will be a sell-out because of its timely theme, Kingston's 300th Anniversary, as it will contain pictures and other items of interest to all Kingstonians.

FNA Receives Lamp

The annual presentation of a Florence Nightingale Lamp, symbol of the highest ideals in nursing, was made to the Future Nurses of America, a high school organization whose members plan to make nursing a career. Marlene Cashin gave the history of the FNA from its founding in 1949. Melinda Keyes then gave a biographical sketch of Florence Nightingale. The Florence Nightingale pledge was also presented to the FNA by Miss Morse. Adeline Cates's sketch of Santa Filomena, by Longfellow concluded the program.

Jayvee Track

Kingston High's Jayvee track team competed in a triangular meet last week, with Cornwall and Marlborough as the other contestants. Kingston took second place. The Jayvee team consists of 25 members, some of which show promising talent. Several top men are Locke and Bonder, Presco in the 100 yard dash, Markle and Helmer. Bob Markle also may compete in varsity meets.

Ban Believed Lifted

Berlin, May 17 (AP)—Allied military patrols passed through the Russian checkpoint near here this morning and U. S. officials said they believed an eight-day Russian ban against them had been lifted. The Russians clamped down on the patrols May 8 without explanation and since then have intermittently allowed them to pass and then barred them again. The patrols drive the 110-mile stretch between Helmstedt and Berlin to aid stranded motorists on the only allied highway link between Berlin and the West.

10 Are Sentenced

Vienna, Austria, May 17 (AP)—A Prague state court sentenced ten former boy scout leaders yesterday to prison terms ranging up to 15 years, Prague radio reported. The defendants allegedly conspired against the present regime in Czechoslovakia by forming illegal armed groups in the years of 1949 and 1950, Prague radio said.

10 Are Sentenced

Vienna, Austria, May 17 (AP)—A Prague state court sentenced ten former boy scout leaders yesterday to prison terms ranging up to 15 years, Prague radio reported. The defendants allegedly conspired against the present regime in Czechoslovakia by forming illegal armed groups in the years of 1949 and 1950, Prague radio said.

Town of Esopus American Legion Will Sponsor Little League Baseball

The Town of Esopus has joined the ever growing list of Ulster county communities sponsoring Little League baseball this season.

Plans for the organization of a four-team league by the Town of Esopus Post 1298, American Legion, were officially announced today by the Post executive committee.

Robert Graves has been named chairman of the Legion's Little League committee. He will be assisted by Chet Barth, Jr., Cliff Davis, Jr. and Warren Dunham.

Team managers, coaches and other league officials will be named at a later date.

Port Ewen joins Kingston, Saugerties and New Paltz among the county communities that will operate leagues during the 1952 season. The Town of Esopus circuit is in a district of its own and does not come under the quota of three teams prescribed for Kingston by the Little League national headquarters at Williamsport, Pa.

Tentative plans for the four-team league provide for Wednesday and Saturday afternoon games at Ross Park in Port Ewen. The opening date has not been set.

Several improvements are planned for the Ross Park facilities. These include the adding of new top soil to the baseball diamond, grading, repair of the present backstop and the erection of a fence to bring the diamond to standard size for Little League baseball.

Edward Eckert, supervisor of the Town of Esopus, has given his approval to these proposed improvements.

The Esopus Legion plans to purchase all equipment for the four teams and to provide all of the managers, coaches and umpires needed for the operation of the league. Bids have already been received from sporting goods dealers on the equipment and delivery is expected within three weeks.

To underwrite the cost of equipment, uniforms, insurance and other incidental expenses, the Esopus Legion plans to conduct a fund raising campaign among the various merchants and organizations in the Town of Esopus. It is planned to start the campaign next week.

Post 1298 plans to donate a sizeable sum to the campaign and to finance, by a bank loan, the balance of the necessary costs until the fund raising drive has been completed.

The sponsorship of Little League baseball in the Town of Esopus is another of the projects undertaken by the American Legion in the interest of the community. The league is expected to create considerable enthusiasm and interest among the citizens of the town and good public support of the project is a foregone conclusion.

Tryouts and practice sessions are being held every Wednesday evening at 6 p. m. and Saturdays at 1 p. m. Tryouts were planned at 1 p. m. today for all boys in the township between the ages of 8 and 13. Deadline for the 13th birthday of a player is August 1, 1952.

Pronto Don Cops 17th Straight

Yonkers, May 17 (AP) — The Hayes Fair Acres Pronto Don, rated the top trotter in the sport today, gave a flawless performance as he was guided to a one-half length victory over Don Scott B Benny Schue in the $10,000 Mount Vernon free for all trot before 25,866 fans in the Grand Circuit at Yonkers Raceway last night. It was his 17th straight victory.

In the co-feature, the Riverdale Pace, Stanley Dancer scored a surprise victory with Musician over Thomas B. Scott. The latter cut off Stanton Hal on the last turn, causing a three horse pile-up.

Jack Beltz, driver of Ford Motors First, suffered a cut forehead after flying 30 feet through the air upon running into prostrate Stanton Hal, while Hugh Bell suffered a sprained ankle and Billy Haughton aboard Stanton Hal was unscratched.

Pronto Don brushed with Aimee Scott for one quarter to gain the top in :30.3 and then set his own pace to the three quarters in 1:04.4 and 1:36.4 where Don Scott came at him but to no avail in 30 second closing quarter. The winner paid $2.50.

The $4500 first place check boosted Pronto Don's earnings to $197,122.71.

Syracuse and Rochester Tenpin Aces Seek to Shatter Scoring Drouth

The next to the last weekend of the state bowling tournament gets under way in earnest tonight, with 270 teams remaining on the schedule and a scoring drouth settling over the lanes in both the team event and singles and doubles.

Of the last 44 teams in the five-man event only one has crashed the prize list.

There is a heavy slate of stars scheduled today and Sunday with hotshot squads from Syracuse and Rochester but the standing boards are not likely to be disturbed too much.

Johnny Quinzi, of Rochester, the 1951 Petersen Classic winner and currently in second place in the 1952 feature, makes his bid at 11 o'clock tonight in the singles and doubles and at 1:30 Sunday in the team event. He leads the powerful Rochester Bowling Center.

Syracuse's famed Frank Hermans, a five-time state champion, Jerry Reinsmith and others will be in action.

Finland's Johannson Cops 1500 Meter; Manhattan Wins 440 and 880 Relays

Los Angeles, May 17 (AP)—One American record was bettered and a crack field of international Olympic games candidates fell before Finland's Dennis Johannson in the featured 1,500-meter run.

Those were the highlights of the 12th annual Los Angeles Coliseum Relays last night unreeled before 45,211 track and field enthusiasts in weather that was on the coolish side.

Sharing attention with these exploits by Johannson and 400-meter hurdler Charley Moore in a year of Olympic games interest were the two relay wins by Manhattan College's four-man sprint team, George Rhoden's win in the 400-meter run and the triumph of his teammate from Morgan State College, Art Bragg, in the 100-meter dash.

There were disappointments too. Andy Stanfield, the favorite from New York in the 100 meters pulled a leg muscle and bowed out of the race.

England's E. McDonald Bailey, co-holder of the world 100-meter record, ran a poor fourth.

Don Gehrmann, the Wisconsin mile king, finished a disappointing fifth in the 1,500-meter race, dominated almost from the start by Johannson, now a student at Purdue, and timed in 3:53.

Moore, former national champion from Cornell and America's best bet in the 400-meter hurdles at Helsinki, eased in by 20 yards in 50.9 seconds. He held the old American record, set in 1949, at 51.1. The world record, set in Sweden in 1934, is 50.6 by Louisiana State University's Glenn Hardin.

Manhattan's John O'Donnell, Joe Schatzle, Lindy Remigino and anchor man Bob Carty scored repeat wins in the 440-yard sprint relay in 40.7, and the 880-yard relay, in 1:24.4.

Texas was second in the 440, trailed by USC, Morgan State, and Oklahoma's Aggies. In the 880, USC, UCLA, Texas and Morgan State followed in that order.

The mile relay went to Occidental's brilliant team in a fight with Manhattan. John Barnes bested Verne Dixon in the run for the finish. The time was the best in the nation this year, 3:13. Kansas previously had done 3:13.1.

Jones Dairy Set With Chez Emile In First Game

Fisher and Watzka Probable Hurlers

The 1952 City Baseball League launches its season Sunday at 2:05 p. m., at the Athletic Field, with Chez Emile meeting Jones Dairy.

Appropriate pre-game ceremonies have been scheduled by President Edward Murphy.

The 1952 opener sets a new format of Sunday afternoon contests at the Athletic Field, with weekday games on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Five teams are entered in this year's pennant chase and generally strengthened rosters point up a tight race and first rate baseball for the league patrons.

Chez Emile, the 1951 regular season champions, have added Big Jack Watzka from last year's Bowlodrome array and will probably start him against Jones Dairy's Tommy Fisher.

Fisher has perhaps the greatest won and lost record in City League roster.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk will throw out the first ball. Robert Umpleby, president of the Kingston Athletic Association and Little League director, will be a guest.

Three Umps Listed

Three umpires will work the first game giving it a championship touch. The arbiters are Bill Schwab, a holdover of several years experience, and two newcomers — Jack Rivenberg and Francis Stauble.

All Sunday atfernoon games will start at 2:05 p. m., with the regular weekday contests scheduled at 6:15 p. m.

Bill Tierney, who doubles as a pitcher and infielder, will be seen in a player-manager role for Boulevard Gulf. Ferrell "Fink" McElrath handles Wiltwyck Motors which is a predominantly Highland array, while Bill "Pucker" Davis, the hardy perennial, leads the Colonial Merchants.

All rosters have a liberal sprinkling of high school and college players who will not report until the close of school.

Frank Shea's Three Victories Make Yankee Traders Look Bad

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees seldom make a poor trade but at the moment it appears they pulled a whopper in dispatching Frank Shea, Jackie Jensen and Archie Wilson to Washington for Irv Noren.

Yank Manager Casey Stengel was reluctant to part with the trio but claimed he was forced to gamble. Stengel's fears have been realized and if Noren doesn't pick up the sage of Yankee Stadium will have nightmares.

Shea, Jensen and Wilson have given the Senators a brighter outlook on life while Noren has yet to catch fire.

Jensen and Shea teamed up last night to lead the Senators to a 2-0 triumph over the league-leading Cleveland Indians. The victory moved Washington to within 1½ games of the Tribe.

Since the trade on May 3 the Senators have won nine games and lost three to rise from the second division to second place while the Yanks have won seven and dropped four.

Wins Three Straight

Shea, who failed to appear in a single game for the Yanks, has won three straight starts during which he has allowed only two runs. Jensen, who collected only two hits in 19 trips for New York, has banged out 17 hits in 51 times at bat for Washington, a .333 gait. Wilson, who got one hit in two trys for the Yanks, has smashed out 12 hits in 38 chances for a .316 mark and driven in nine runs. Noren has collected only 12 hits in 48 attempts for the Yanks, a .250 average.

Shea blew down the Indians on two hits and fanned nine in outpitching Early Wynn. Jensen drove in both runs with a sixth inning single.

Noren played his best game since joining Yankees, driving in two runs as the Bombers edged the Tigers, 3-2, in Detroit. Noren socked his first homer in the seventh and singled home the winning run with one out in the ninth. Noren, obtained for the expressed purpose of playing center field, was employed at first due to injuries to first baseman Johnny Mize, Joe Collins and Johnny Hopp. Rookie Bob Cerv patrolled the middle pasture.

Paige Wins in Relief

Earl Harrist and Satchel Paige combined to pitch the St. Louis Browns to a 2-1 two-hit ten-inning victory over Boston in a night game at St. Louis. The Browns collected only four hits off Mickey McDermott and Ellis Kinder, but three of the blows were by Bob Nieman who drove in both runs. Nieman homered in the eighth and doubled with two on in the tenth to win the game.

The Brooklyn Dodgers tied the New York Giants for first place in the National League, beating Pittsburgh, 6-4, while the Giants dropped a double header to the upstart Chicago Cubs, 3-2 and 6-4.

Clem Labine pitched seven innings of scoreless relief ball to pick up his first victory for Brooklyn. The Pirates played without Ralph Kiner who was out of the lineup with a pulled back muscle.

Bob Rush brushed the Giants back with five hits in the opener to end a five-game New York winning streak. Johnny Klippstein, who hurled only one complete game last year, yielded six hits, including homers by Hank Thompson and Bobby Thomson, in going the distance in the nightcap.

In night games, the Boston Braves trampled the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-3, and the Philadelphia Phils edged the Cincinnati Reds, 3-2, in ten innings.

Akron Keglers 8th In ABC Five-Man

Milwaukee, May 17 (AP)—A long drouth among regular teams in the American Bowling Congress tournament ended last night when the Amster Kirtz Co. quintet of Akron, Ohio, hopped into eighth place. It was the first change in the top 10 regular team leaders since May 1.

The Kirtz team started with a 1,027 game, followed with 957 and ended with 1,009 for a total of 2,993. Edward Johnson set the pace with 660 on counts of 190, 235 and 235. Then came Lewis Gilmore with 210, 233 and 168 for 611. Dale Heysen had 608, Louis Yovanovich 596 and Joe Magyaric 518.

An entry from Indianapolis came within 61 pins of 10th place in team shooting. Mechanic's Laundry spilled an even 2,900 to lead the way on the first squad of the night. Games were 934, 968 and 998.

New York — Billy Graham, 147¾, New York, and Rocky Castellani, 155, Luzerne, Pa., drew, 10.

VFW Outlasts Barclays In 11-10 Softball Win

Clutch pitching by George Seyler who struck out the final batter with the bases loaded in the last inning, enabled the Veterans of Foreign Wars softball team to register an 11-10 victory over Barclay Knitwear this week at St. Mary's Field.

Snead Widens Palm Beach Lead

New Rochelle, May 17 (AP) — You'd never call Sam Snead a windy golfer. He's downright reticent at times, loosening up verbally only when he pockets a handful of dollars to fill some of those tin cans he reportedly buries in his back yard at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

But when it comes to playing golf in the wind, that's something different.

Snead's biggest victory of 1952 came in the Masters at Augusta when blustery winds made most of the golfers miserable and had the same effect on their scores. The wind blew again yesterday, in tricky 20-mile-an-hour gusts, as Sammy sailed out far in front in the round robin tournament at Wykagyl.

Undisturbed by the breezes, Snead fired rounds of 66—six under par—and 71 yesterday, following an opening 67. That gave him a 54-hole medal score of 204 and a 30-point margin over his nearest pursuer in the select field of 16.

With two more rounds to play today and tomorrow, Snead has piled up 53 points and his closest pursuer, cooling-off Claude Harmon, of Mamaroneck, N. Y., had 23. Pudgy Ed (Porky) Oliver of Lemont, Ill., came through with a red-hot third round against ice cold opposition to take third place with a plus 20 total. Then came Jim Ferrier and Cary Middlecoff, tied with plus 17, and Lloyd Mangrum, plus 15.

Twaalfskill Pro Leads Troy Field With 146 Score

Expressed Doubt He Will Play in Nationals

Twaalfskill's Alex Gerlak has qualified for the National PGA tournament in Louisville, but the veteran Northeastern PGA star this morning said he doubted he would compete.

Gerlak paced a field of 10 Northeastern pros with a 74-72—146, four over par for the Troy Country Club yesterday.

Milon Marusic, formerly of Wolfert's Roost of Albany, grabbed the second spot with a weird score of 150. Marusic coupled a shaky 80 on the first nine with a sub-par 70 for the 150.

The host pro, Eddie Schultz, who holds the course record of 64, won the alternate spot and is expected to take Gerlak's place in the Louisville tournament which starts on June 18.

High winds and cold weather caused scores to balloon and Marusic's 150 runnerup total is one of the highest ever to qualify for a Northeastern post.

Gerlak said he three-putted three greens from less than two feet but that his putter was working steady on the whole and he was hitting good wood and iron shots.

Marusic, who played the winter tournament trail, started with a ragged 44 but settled down to three good nines.

Town of Esopus American Legion Will Sponsor Little League Baseball

The Town of Esopus has joined the ever growing list of Ulster county communities sponsoring Little League baseball this season.

Plans for the organization of a four-team league by the Town of Esopus Post 1298, American Legion, were officially announced today by the Post executive committee.

Robert Graves has been named chairman of the Legion's Little League committee. He will be assisted by Chet Barth, Jr., Cliff Davis, Jr. and Warren Dunham.

Team managers, coaches and other league officials will be named at a later date.

Port Ewen joins Kingston, Saugerties and New Paltz among the county communities that will operate leagues during the 1952 season. The Town of Esopus circuit is in a district of its own and does not come under the quota of three teams prescribed for Kingston by the Little League national headquarters at Williamsport, Pa.

Tentative plans for the four-team league provide for Wednesday and Saturday afternoon games at Ross Park in Port Ewen. The opening date has not been set.

Several improvements are planned for the Ross Park facilities. These include the adding of new top soil to the baseball diamond, grading, repair of the present backstop and the erection of a fence to bring the diamond to standard size for Little League baseball.

Edward Eckert, supervisor of the Town of Esopus, has given his approval to these proposed improvements.

The Esopus Legion plans to purchase all equipment for the four teams and to provide all of the managers, coaches and umpires needed for the operation of the league. Bids have already been received from sporting goods dealers on the equipment and delivery is expected within three weeks.

To underwrite the cost of equipment, uniforms, insurance and other incidental expenses, the Esopus Legion plans to conduct a fund raising campaign among the various merchants and organizations in the Town of Esopus. It is planned to start the campaign next week.

Post 1298 plans to donate a sizeable sum to the campaign and to finance, by a bank loan, the balance of the necessary costs until the fund raising drive has been completed.

The sponsorship of Little League baseball in the Town of Esopus is another of the projects undertaken by the American Legion in the interest of the community. The league is expected to create considerable enthusiasm and interest among the citizens of the town and good public support of the project is a foregone conclusion.

Tryouts and practice sessions are being held every Wednesday evening at 6 p. m. and Saturdays at 1 p. m. Tryouts were planned at 1 p. m. today for all boys in the township between the ages of 8 and 13. Deadline for the 13th birthday of a player is August 1, 1952.

Pronto Don Cops 17th Straight

Yonkers, May 17 (AP) — The Hayes Fair Acres Pronto Don, rated the top trotter in the sport today, gave a flawless performance as he was guided to a one-half length victory over Don Scott B Benny Schue in the $10,000 Mount Vernon free for all trot before 25,866 fans in the Grand Circuit at Yonkers Raceway last night. It was his 17th straight victory.

In the co-feature, the Riverdale Pace, Stanley Dancer scored a surprise victory with Musician over Thomas B. Scott. The latter cut off Stanton Hal on the last turn, causing a three horse pile-up.

Jack Beltz, driver of Ford Motors First, suffered a cut forehead after flying 30 feet through the air upon running into prostrate Stanton Hal, while Hugh Bell suffered a sprained ankle and Billy Haughton aboard Stanton Hal was unscratched.

Pronto Don brushed with Aimee Scott for one quarter to gain the top in :30.3 and then set his own pace to the three quarters in 1:04.4 and 1:36.4 where Don Scott came at him but to no avail in 30 second closing quarter. The winner paid $2.50.

The $4500 first place check boosted Pronto Don's earnings to $197,122.71.

Syracuse and Rochester Tenpin Aces Seek to Shatter Scoring Drouth

The next to the last weekend of the state bowling tournament gets under way in earnest tonight, with 270 teams remaining on the schedule and a scoring drouth settling over the lanes in both the team event and singles and doubles.

Of the last 44 teams in the five-man event only one has crashed the prize list.

There is a heavy slate of stars scheduled today and Sunday with hotshot squads from Syracuse and Rochester but the standing boards are not likely to be disturbed too much.

Johnny Quinzi, of Rochester, the 1951 Petersen Classic winner and currently in second place in the 1952 feature, makes his bid at 11 o'clock tonight in the singles and doubles and at 1:30 Sunday in the team event. He leads the powerful Rochester Bowling Center.

Syracuse's famed Frank Hermans, a five-time state champion, Jerry Reinsmith and others will be in action.

Two capable Mt. Vernon quintets—Blue Ribbon Cubes and Actual Lures—fizzled out of the money.

Finland's Johannson Cops 1500 Meter; Manhattan Wins 440 and 880 Relays

Los Angeles, May 17 (AP)—One American record was bettered and a crack field of international Olympic games candidates fell before Finland's Dennis Johannson in the featured 1,500-meter run.

Those were the highlights of the 12th annual Los Angeles Coliseum Relays last night unreeled before 45,211 track and field enthusiasts in weather that was on the coolish side.

Sharing attention with these exploits by Johannson and 400-meter hurdler Charley Moore in a year of Olympic games interest were the two relay wins by Manhattan College's four-man sprint team, George Rhoden's win in the 400-meter run and the triumph of his teammate from Morgan State College, Art Bragg, in the 100-meter dash.

Andy Stanfield, the favorite from New York in the 100 meters pulled a leg muscle and bowed out of the race.

Don Gehrmann, the Wisconsin mile king, finished a disappointing fifth in the 1,500-meter race, dominated almost from the start by Johannson, now a student at Purdue, and timed in 3:53.

Moore, former national champion from Cornell and America's best bet in the 400-meter hurdles at Helsinki, eased in by 20 yards in 50.9 seconds. He held the old American record, set in 1949, at 51.1. The world record, set in Sweden in 1934, is 50.6 by Louisiana State University's Glenn Hardin.

Manhattan's John O'Donnell, Joe Schatzle, Lindy Remigino and anchor man Bob Carty scored repeat wins in the 440-yard sprint relay in 40.7, and the 880-yard relay, in 1:24.4.

Texas was second in the 440, trailed by USC, Morgan State, and Oklahoma's Aggies. In the 880, USC, UCLA, Texas and Morgan State followed in that order.

The mile relay went to Occidental's brilliant team in a fight with Manhattan. John Barnes bested Verne Dixon in the run for the finish. The time was the best in the nation this year, 3:13. Kansas previously had done 3:13.1.

Frank Shea's Three Victories Make Yankee Traders Look Bad

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees seldom make a poor trade but at the moment it appears they pulled a whopper in dispatching Frank Shea, Jackie Jensen and Archie Wilson to Washington for Irv Noren.

Yank Manager Casey Stengel was reluctant to part with the trio but claimed he was forced to gamble. Stengel's fears have been realized and if Noren doesn't pick up the sage of Yankee Stadium will have nightmares.

Shea, Jensen and Wilson have given the Senators a brighter outlook on life while Noren has yet to catch fire.

Jensen and Shea teamed up last night to lead the Senators to a 2-0 triumph over the league-leading Cleveland Indians. The victory moved Washington to within 1½ games of the Tribe.

Since the trade on May 3 the Senators have won nine games and lost three to rise from the second division to second place while the Yanks have won seven and dropped four.

Wins Three Straight

Shea, who failed to appear in a single game for the Yanks, has won three straight starts during which he has allowed only two runs. Jensen, who collected only two hits in 19 trips for New York, has banged out 17 hits in 51 times at bat for Washington, a .333 gait. Wilson, who got one hit in two trys for the Yanks, has smashed out 12 hits in 38 chances for a .316 mark and driven in nine runs. Noren has collected only 12 hits in 48 attempts for the Yanks, a .250 average.

Shea blew down the Indians on two hits and fanned nine in outpitching Early Wynn. Jensen drove in both runs with a sixth inning single.

Ray Boone singled with two out in the fifth for Cleveland's first hit and Al Rosen singled with two gone in the sixth for the Indians' final blow.

Shea launched the Senators' winning rally with a single in the sixth. Ed Yost followed with a double and Jensen cashed them both in with his clutch single.

Noren played his best game since joining Yankees, driving in two runs as the Bombers edged the Tigers, 3-2, in Detroit. Noren socked his first homer in the seventh and singled home the winning run with one out in the ninth. Noren, obtained for the expressed purpose of playing center field, was employed at first due to injuries to first baseman Johnny Mize, Joe Collins and Johnny Hopp. Rookie Bob Cerv patrolled the middle pasture.

Paige Wins in Relief

Earl Harrist and Satchel Paige combined to pitch the St. Louis Browns to a 2-1 two-hit ten-inning victory over Boston in a night game at St. Louis. The Browns collected only four hits off Mickey McDermott and Ellis Kinder, but three of the blows were by Bob Nieman who drove in both runs. Nieman homered in the eighth and doubled with two on in the tenth to win the game.

The Brooklyn Dodgers tied the New York Giants for first place in the National League, beating Pittsburgh, 6-4, while the Giants dropped a double header to the upstart Chicago Cubs, 3-2 and 6-4.

Clem Labine pitched seven innings of scoreless relief ball to pick up his first victory for Brooklyn. The Pirates played without Ralph Kiner who was out of the lineup with a pulled back muscle.

Bob Rush brushed the Giants back with five hits in the opener to end a five-game New York winning streak. Johnny Klippstein, who hurled only one complete game last year, yielded six hits, including homers by Hank Thompson and Bobby Thomson, in going the distance in the nightcap.

In night games, the Boston Braves trampled the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-3, and the Philadelphia Phils edged the Cincinnati Reds, 3-2, in ten innings.

Jones Dairy Set With Chez Emile In First Game

Fisher and Watzka Probable Hurlers

The 1952 City Baseball League launches its season Sunday at 2:05 p. m., at the Athletic Field, with Chez Emile meeting Jones Dairy.

Appropriate pre-game ceremonies have been scheduled by President Edward Murphy.

The 1952 opener sets a new format of Sunday afternoon contests at the Athletic Field, with weekday games on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Five teams are entered in this year's pennant chase and generally strengthened rosters point up a tight race and first rate baseball for the league patrons.

Chez Emile, the 1951 regular season champions, have added Big Jack Watzka from last year's Bowlodrome array and will probably start him against Jones Dairy's Tommy Fisher.

Fisher has perhaps the greatest won and lost record in City League roster.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk will throw out the first ball. Robert Umpleby, president of the Kingston Athletic Association and Little League director, will be a guest.

Three Umps Listed

Three umpires will work the first game giving it a championship touch. The arbiters are Bill Schwab, a holdover of several years experience, and two newcomers — Jack Rivenberg and Francis Stauble.

All Sunday afternoon games will start at 2:05 p. m., with the regular weekday contests scheduled at 6:15 p. m.

Bill Tierney, who doubles as a pitcher and infielder, will be seen in a player-manager role for Boulevard Gulf. Ferrell "Fink" McElrath handles Wiltwyck Motors which is a predominantly Highland array, while Bill "Pucker" Davis, the hardy perrennial, leads the Colonial Merchants.

All rosters have a liberal sprinkling of high school and college players who will not report until the close of school.

JONES DAIRY—John Schatzel, mgr.; Tom Carlino, Tom Maines, Tommy Fisher, Bob Graves, Sal Misasi, George Brinkman, Charlie Neff, Johnny Berardi, Hugo Knauert, Don Jones, Bob Shelightner, Joe Modica, Ronnie Mauro, Mark Freligh.

BOULEVARD GULF—Bill Tierney, mgr.; Allan Vogt, Les Barringer, George Magley, Joe Shattan, Ron Crosby, Cliff Schoonmaker, Matty Weishaupt, Rod Sagendorf, Bill DuBois, Joe Fautz, Fred Schryver, Don Lyons, Jerry Bechtold, Gus Koch.

WILTWYCK MOTORS — Tony Williams, Augie Passante, Tom Murphy, Ernie Trapani, Harry Kite, Don Neff, Bud Finn, John Minadeo, Dan Minadeo, Ed Passante, Bob Heroy, Ernie McCormick, Lefty Passante, Ferrell McElrath, mgr.

CHEZ EMILE—Joe Hoffman, mgr.; Jack Watzka, Frank Secreto, Bill Olen, Joe Benjamin, Al Decker, Bob Slover, George Glaser, capt; Ronnie Scheffel, Henry Barnes, Bud Scheffel, Joe Norton, Art Gill, Bob Gorsline, Floyd McCormick, Warren Swarthout.

Akron Keglers 8th In ABC Five-Man

Milwaukee, May 17 (AP)—A long drouth among regular teams in the American Bowling Congress tournament ended last night when the Amster Kirtz Co. quintet of Akron, Ohio, hopped into eighth place. It was the first change in the top 10 regular team leaders since May 1.

The Kirtz team started with a 1,027 game, followed with 957 and ended with 1,009 for a total of 2,993. Edward Johnson set the pace with 660 on counts of 190, 235 and 235. Then came Lewis Gilmore with 210, 233 and 168 for 611. Dale Heysen had 608, Louis Yovanovich 596 and Joe Magyaric 518.

An entry from Indianapolis came within 61 pins of 10th place in team shooting. Mechanic's Laundry spilled an even 2,900 to lead the way on the first squad of the night. Games were 934, 968 and 998.

New York — Billy Graham, 147¾, New York, and Rocky Castellani, 155, Luzerne, Pa., drew, 10.

VFW Outlasts Barclays In 11-10 Softball Win

Clutch pitching by George Seyler who struck out the final batter with the bases loaded in the last inning, enabled the Veterans of Foreign Wars softball team to register an 11-10 victory over Barclay Knitwear this week at St. Mary's Field.

Snead Widens Palm Beach Lead

New Rochelle, May 17 (AP) — You'd never call Sam Snead a windy golfer. He's downright reticent at times, loosening up verbally only when he pockets a handful of dollars to fill some of those tin cans he reportedly buries in his back yard at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

But when it comes to playing golf in the wind, that's something different.

Snead's biggest victory of 1952 came in the Masters at Augusta when blustery winds made most of the golfers miserable and had the same effect on their scores. The wind blew again yesterday, in tricky 20-mile-an-hour gusts, as Sammy sailed out far in front in the round robin tournament at Wykagyl.

Undisturbed by the breezes, Snead fired rounds of 66—six under par—and 71 yesterday, following an opening 67. That gave him a 54-hole medal score of 204 and a 30-point margin over his nearest pursuer in the select field of 16.

With two more rounds to play today and tomorrow, Snead has piled up 53 points and his closest pursuer, cooling-off Claude Harmon, of Mamaroneck, N. Y., had 23. Pudgy Ed (Porky) Oliver of Lemont, Ill., came through with a red-hot third round against ice cold opposition to take third place with a plus 20 total. Then came Jim Ferrier and Cary Middlecoff, tied with plus 17, and Lloyd Mangrum, plus 15.

Twaalfskill Pro Leads Troy Field With 146 Score

Expressed Doubt He Will Play in Nationals

Twaalfskill's Alex Gerlak has qualified for the National PGA tournament in Louisville, but the veteran Northeastern PGA star this morning said he doubted he would compete.

Gerlak paced a field of 10 Northeastern pros with a 74-72—146, four over par for the Troy Country Club yesterday.

Milon Marusic, formerly of Wolfert's Roost of Albany, grabbed the second spot with a weird score of 150. Marusic coupled a shaky 80 on the first nine with a sub-par 70 for the 150.

The host pro, Eddie Schultz, who holds the course record of 64, won the alternate spot and is expected to take Gerlak's place in the Louisville tournament which starts on June 18.

High winds and cold weather caused scores to balloon and Marusic's 150 runnerup total is one of the highest ever to qualify for a Northeastern post.

Gerlak said he three-putted three greens from less than two feet but that his putter was working steady on the whole and he was hitting good wood and iron shots.

Marusic, who played the winter tournament trail, started with a ragged 44 but settled down to three good nines.

Baptists Elect, Begin Plans for Revival Period

Plans for a long-range revival period, which is being carried on throughout the American Baptist Convention, were discussed during the annual business meeting of the First Baptist Church Thursday night.

The business session was preceded by a covered dish supper which was attended by about 50 members of the congregation.

Citing the goal of 104 new members, the Rev. Donald E. Brown, who is now in his second year as pastor of the local church, said that the revival period will extend from May of this year until December of 1953.

A unanimous approval of the pastor's suggestion was granted by the membership at the meeting. A committee of seven from within the church will be appointed soon to carry on this work.

It also was reported that during last December's special collection $49 was realized for the aid of two local churches, St. Mark's AME Church and the First Church of the Nazarene. Both churches received $24.50 from the collection.

Arnold Church Clerk

Other elections, all unanimous, included the following:

Evan Davis, Erwin Craw and the Rev. Justin Field, retired minister, deacons for three years; and Edward Safford, deacon one year. Mrs. Grover Hahn, Mrs. Ira Woolsey and Mrs. Mabel Terwilliger were named to the deaconess board.

Also Miss Ethel Hull, Sunday school superintendent; Mrs. Harry Klothe, treasurer of benovolences; Miss Lucinda J. Healy, member of the mortgage fund committee and Irwin J. Thomas, financial secretary.

Trustees elected to serve three years were James H. Betts, Arthus Jones and Albert O. Sonnenberg.

Announcement also was made that the Rev. and Mrs. Donald E. Brown would attend the annual sessions of the American Baptist Convention convening in Chicago next Monday. Four other delegates also will attend.

Finds Hand Truck

Joseph Sills of 159 Smith avenue reported to police headquarters yesterday afternoon that he had found in front of his house a hand truck that had apparently fallen from a passing truck.

Blakeslee Lauded For His Contribution

Atlantic City, N. J., May 17 (AP)—The American Psychiatric Association says the late Howard W. Blakeslee, long-time science editor of the Associated Press, contributed "to the advancement of science and public education."

The APA paid tribute to Blakeslee yesterday in a resolution adopted at the close of its annual meeting. Blakeslee died May 2.

For more than 25 years, the resolution noted, Blakeslee covered news of psychiatry and reported many meetings of the APA.

"Through his high quality, accurate and objective reporting," it added, "he gave outstanding service in interpreting psychiatry for the public and enhancing good relationships between psychiatry and the laymen."

Cancer Institutes Endorsed by Broad

Dr. Robert H. Broad, commissioner of health of Ulster county, endorses the Cancer Teaching Institutes to be held May 20 and May 27 for all the nurses in the county. The institutes will be held in the auditorium of the Myron J. Michael School at 7:30 p. m. both days.

The institutes are sponsored jointly by the Ulster County Health Department and the Ulster County Branch of the American Cancer Society. Nurses active and inactive in all fields of nursing are encouraged to attend—hospital nurses, school nurses, office nurses, student nurses, public health nurses, industrial nurses, and registered practical nurses.

The Cancer Institute on May 20 will feature nursing techniques and nursing care demonstrations. Dr. Charles N. Breed, Jr., M.O., medical consultant to the Tumor Clinic from Memorial Hospital in New York will speak on New Treatments in the Care of Cancer Patients. Miss Mary Keating and Miss Ida Zanni of the teaching staff of the Benedictine Hospital will give nursing care demonstrations.

Paul R. Gerhardt, M.D., director of the Bureau of Cancer Control, will speak at the May 27 institute on Public Health Aspects of Cancer Control. Appearing with him on the program will be Milton Grover, M.D., director and radiologist of the Ulster County Tumor Clinic — The Cancer Program in Ulster County; and Miss Esther Flemming, consultant nurse, mental hygiene—Emotional Aspects in the Care of Cancer Patients. Dr. Gerhardt and Miss Flemming are with the New York State Department of Health.

The institutes promise to be interesting and informative. Every nurse in the county will want to include it in her list of "musts," says Dr. Broad.

Horses 'on the Loose' Captured by Police

Horses were "on the loose" in the city Friday and Saturday.

At 1:35 p. m. Friday police headquarters received a call from a resident of 100 Bruyn avenue reporting "horses on the loose." Officers Thomas W. Tomshaw and Frank E. Sammons, who investigated, reported that they found one horse in the vicinity.

At 7 a. m. today Officers Leonard J. Ellsworth and Carl C. Janasiewicz reported that they caught a grey horse on Lincoln street near Hutton street, and according to the police blotter, "have tied same to a tree." They reported that the horse had a chain around its neck.

Three Autos Damaged In Crash Early Today

Three automobiles were damaged in an accident on Route 9W near the Valley Rest two miles south of Highland about 3:40 a. m. today, state police reported.

No personal injuries were reported, although two of the vehicles were damaged to the extent that they had to be towed away, troopers said.

The accident occurred when a southbound automobile driven by James L. Evans, 29, of Indianapolis, Ind., skidded a distance of 28 yards in trying to avoid a collision with a vehicle backing out of the parking lot at the restaurant, according to the report. The Evans sedan struck the right side of the car that was backing, which was operated by Norman E. Wiegand, 57, of Poughkeepsie, and then struck the left rear end of a parked automobile belonging to John J. Bowling of Poughkeepsie, state police reported. No arrect was made.

Public Enemy Is Slain

San Juan, Puerto Rico, May 17 (AP) — Puerto Rico's long-sought Public Enemy No. 1, Antonio Correa Cotto, is dead. Police touched a torch to a sugar cane field in which the fugitive killer was hiding last night, then shot him as he came running out. Police Chief Beningo Soto said the 31-year-old escaped lifer killed five persons last Monday near where he was shot down in the Ponce vicinity 45 miles southeast of here. He already had at least four other killings and one rape on his record.

Held in Daughter's Death

New York, May 17 (AP)—A 28-year-old expectant mother was arrested yesterday on a homicide charge in the death of her two-year-old daughter, Assistant District Attorney Louis Andreozzi, of Brooklyn, said. Andreozzi said the woman, Mrs. Ruth Peters, admitted banging the child's head against a wall because the girl's crying upset her. Mrs. Peter's husband, Robert, is a coast guardsman now at sea.

Baptists Elect, Begin Plans for Revival Period

Plans for a long-range revival period, which is being carried on throughout the American Baptist Convention, were discussed during the annual business meeting of the First Baptist Church Thursday night.

The business session was preceded by a covered dish supper which was attended by about 50 members of the congregation.

Citing the goal of 104 new members, the Rev. Donald E. Brown, who is now in his second year as pastor of the local church, said that the revival period will extend from May of this year until December of 1953.

A unanimous approval of the pastor's suggestion was granted by the membership at the meeting. A committee of seven from within the church will be appointed soon to carry on this work.

It also was reported that during last December's special collection $49 was realized for the aid of two local churches, St. Mark's AME Church and the First Church of the Nazarene. Both churches received $24.50 from the collection.

Arnold Church Clerk

During the annual election of new church officers, Charles L. Arnold, former Sunday school superintendent, was unanimously elected church clerk.

Other elections, all unanimous, included the following:

Evan Davis, Erwin Craw and the Rev. Justin Field, retired minister, deacons for three years; and Edward Safford, deacon one year. Mrs. Grover Hahn, Mrs. Ira Woolsey and Mrs. Mabel Terwilliger were named to the deaconess board.

Also Miss Ethel Hull, Sunday school superintendent; Mrs. Harry Klothe, treasurer of benovolences; Miss Lucinda J. Healy, member of the mortgage fund committee and Irwin J. Thomas, financial secretary.

Trustees elected to serve three years were James H. Betts, Arthus Jones and Albert O. Sonnenberg.

Announcement also was made that the Rev. and Mrs. Donald E. Brown would attend the annual sessions of the American Baptist Convention convening in Chicago next Monday. Four other delegates also will attend.

Project Rivals A-Bomb

Dallas, May 17 (AP)—A project rivaling the atomic bomb in importance is being developed by Columbia University, an official of the university believes. Dr. Grayson Kirk, acting president of Columbia in the absence of General Dwight D. Eisenhower, said here last night the work is being done for the U. S. Navy. He spoke before a meeting of Columbia's alumni chapter. Columbia pioneered work on the atomic bomb a little over a decade ago, he said.

Says Once Is Okay

Berkeley, Calif., May 17 (AP)—"Any dog should be entitled to bite another dog once," is Municipal Judge Redmond C. Staats ruling. He turned down Mrs. Harriet Allison's petition for $25 damages for injuries her spaniel suffered from the teeth of Patsy, a neighbor's shepherd. It would have been different, though, if Patsy had taken a second bite, the judge added.

'Lived Like Eagles'

Washington, May 17 (AP)—Two Japanese die-hards who hid for eight years on Saipan Island in the Pacific are described as having "lived like eagles"—on a diet of snails, eels and rats. Both thrived on their Robinson Crusoe-like experience which began late in World War 2 and ended with their capture a few days ago.

Captures Bee Swarm On Pierpont Street

Police received a call from a resident at 112 Pierpont street at 1:50 p. m. yesterday reporting that some children were poking a stick into a swarm of bees.

Officers Thomas W. Tomshaw and Frank E. Sammons investigated and found the bees in a tree about four feet from the ground "in the form of a large ham." C. Edward Rowe of Rowe's Apiary, now in its 20th year as a pollination service for orchard men, was notified and captured the bees.

Asked today how long it took to catch the bees, Mrs. Rowe told The Freeman that in this case it required only "about five minutes."

Asked if the bees, hanging together in a ball, were just dumped into a sack, Mrs. Rowe laughed and replied, "Well, something like that."

She said that much depended on factors, such as the weather, pointing out that if it was cool and drizzly the bees just seemed "to want to wander" and it might take longer to catch them.

WOODSTOCK

By Richard E. Thibaut, Jr.

Bank Highlights Are Featured in Window Display

Woodstock, May 17—Highlights in the history of the Bank of Orange County are featured in a window display at the new Woodstock branch which opened at 9 a. m. today.

In addition to a number of documents pertaining to the bank, deeds of property in Orange county and several photographs of the various bank buildings which have housed the institution since its founding in 1812 in Goshen, the original "money truck" of the bank is on exhibition. In the early days of the bank it was the custom to send money to and from New York and Goshen in the "money truck" by stagecoach in the custody of a bank officer armed with at least two guns. "This picturesque bank official," according to the bank officials, "kept the 'money truck' under constant surveillance during the jorney. These were the pioneer days of stagecoach holdups!"

On one occasion this money truck while on a stagecoach journey to New York, in the custody of Ambrose Spencer Murray, then the president of the bank, was snatched by a thief who made off with it. Murray gave chase, apprehended the thief and retrieved the money truck. The money truck is of old weathered wood, about the size of the traditional sea chest, and is studded with leather and hobnails, and identified with the initials, ASM, of the second president.

Although antique in appearance, the other item which shares the window with the "money truck" is the "draft wheel," a large hollow drum with a hand crank. It was used in Goshen to draft soldiers for the Union Army in 1863, and was presented to the Goshen Library and Historical Society by A. S. Murray, Jr., Russell Murray and Dr. F. W. Murray. The Bank of Orange County has been the custodian of the original "draft wheel," which "like its modern counterparts was none too popular in some quarters." The original law provided for the "drawing" or selection of draftees at a public ceremony as a protection against favoritism.

Also included in the exhibit is the original delegate's badge of A. S. Murray, second president of the bank, to the second national Republican convention. The convention was held in Baltimore June 8, 1864, and nominated Abraham Lincoln to succeed himself as president and Andrew Johnson for vice-president. Murray, as the badge indicates, was a pro-Lincoln delegate. Andrew Johnson and Robert E. Lee were visitors, according to the old register, at the Mead Mountain House, here in August 1869.

The window display has been designed and arranged by John Pike and Jerry Jerominek, who has also make the signs for the bank building.

Service Planned

Woodstock, May 17—The public is invited to attend the special church services at the Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church to be held for the Rondout Commandery 52, Knights Templar, Sunday, at 8 p. m. The Rev. Harvey I. Todd will be the speaker. Invitations to the service have been extended to Saugerties Lodge, Rondout Lodge and Kingston 10 of F & AM and the Woodstock Masonic Square Club.

C of C Will Hold Open Membership Meeting Monday

The first open membership meeting of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce for the new fiscal year will be held 8 o'clock, Monday evening, May 19, at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Chamber President Lawrence J. MacAvery, stated today that this open meeting is being held at the request of members. Only brief reports will be given, but every member present will have the opportunity to ask questions and make suggestions.

"The Kingston Chamber of Commerce is organized solely for the purpose of promoting Kingston by means of a program arranged by various committees," MacAvery said, "and if we do not receive suggestions from members, the Board of Directors, upon recommendations from various committees, do the best job they can in the best interests of Kingston, and the area."

"We have just completed a very successful fiscal year, which ended April 30th; both financially and activity-wise," the president said. "A larger and more active membership is the only way we can expand and carry on a still more effective program," he continued.

All members and prospective members are invited to the meeting Monday night. "No effort of any kind will be made to collect dues Monday night." MacAvery said, "but all persons interested in asking any questions about the Kingston Chamber of Commerce are invited to attend."

$1,000,000 Oil

Station, local companies and oil firm squads.

Evacuation Asked

Police asked residents of a large Negro housing unit to evacuate the area and some of the 300 families moved out as the fire sent flames billowing high into the air. Thick black smoke added to the scene of destruction.

The low-cost housing unit's nearest structures are about 100 yards from the blazing oil and kerosene, but most of the houses closest to the fire are unoccupied. Three or four of them caught fire but were quickly extinguished.

While more foamite was awaited from Houston, the firemen kept nearby structures wetted down to allay the danger of igniting. Steam was forced into stills and tanks at the adjacent Southwestern Oil & Refinery Company's refinery.

The nearest corner of the refinery was just over 100 yards from the fire.

Late reports from the scene said it was "possible" the fire would spread to the residential area and to the refinery. Another large 80,000 gallon tank, the Corpus Christi Galler-Times said, might blow up "any minute."

Not Affected by Strike

Southwestern Refinery officials refused to estimate the damage but oilmen said it easily would reach $1,000,000.

Neither the refinery or the tank farm are affected by the present strike of the Oil Workers International Union (CIO).

The blaze is Texas' third big oil fire within a few days. A refinery at Houston burned and a Fort Worth & Denver City Railway accident at Corsicana set fire to several cars of gasoline and oil earlier in the week.

Several Hundred

the schools enjoy themselves but persons who were not graduates of a Kingston school thoroughly enjoyed the spectacle and apparent delight of the "old grads" as they met and greeted classmates who had obviously not been seen for many years.

Three Attend for Class of '88

One of the classes which was outstanding was that of 1888. Of the 17 members of Ulster Academy who graduated that year, three were represented at the reunion. They were Frederick Coykendall of New York, Mrs. S. E. Eighmey and Mrs. Herbert P. Stickles of Kingston.

At the municipal stadium the graduate groups of the four schools paraded to the stands where, as they appeared before the crowded stand, each class was presented and many outstanding members of the classes were introduced. Numbering among the members were mayors of distant cities, high officers in the armed forces, business men and women in many professions and numbering among them officials of some of the country's most successful corporations.

Classes Are Entertained

In addition to several groups holding luncheons at the hotels at noon the class of Kingston Academy 1902 was received at a reception at the Governor Clinton Hotel at 3:30. Judge Bernard A. Culloton entertained the class of 1905 of Ulster Academy at noon luncheon at the hotel. The Kingston Academy class of 1910 held a luncheon at the hotel. At the Stuyvesant Hotel at noon Dr. Saul Goldfarb entertained the class of 1929 of Kingston High School at luncheon. The class of Kingston Academy 1903 was entertained at luncheon at the Governor Clinton Hotel at noon by the chairman, Harry Ensign. Friday evening members of the class of 1909 of Kingston Academy were entertained at a reception at the home of Samuel D. Scudder, Jr. Scudder was the composer of the old Kingston Academy school song. There were also numerous cocktail parties and informal luncheons, receptions and gatherings in homes throughout the city.

Robber Repents

New York, May 17 (AP)—Two hours after he slugged a 67-year-old woman and robbed her apartment, a young man last night called back on a dime pay phone and asked for his victim, Mrs. Fannie Belleson. Her daughter, Mrs. Kate Landsdorf, took the call and reported he told her: "I'm the young fellow who robbed your mother. I'm sorry. I hope I didn't hurt her. I had to do it. I'm hungry. I'm an orphan. I come from an Oklahoma reform school."

Newsprint Hike

livered in New York to an all-time high of $126 a ton.

In the depression years of the early 30's newsprint cost $40 a ton. It was $50 a ton at the time of Pearl Harbor.

Here's what's happened since:

In 1946 the price mounted to $84. The next year it climbed to $90, and reached $100 by the end of 1948. A further increase in 1950 raised the price to $106. It soared to $116 last July, nudging the previous high of $120 set in the early 1920's.

The tightening cost squeeze on the nation's newspapers was a topic of major interest at the recent convention here of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

"Subscribers' prices have increased almost to the limit compatible with mass coverage, and advances in advertising rates are meeting resistance," the ANPA reported.

"Newspapers, caught in the middle as it were between increased and apparently ever-rising costs of operation and inability to find increasing revenue to meet those costs, are beginning to wonder what the answer may be for them—they are reluctant to say that merger and suspension is the solution."

The obvious solution, it was held, is bringing in more money and cutting costs.

To Give More Attention

Publishers are expected to give increasing attention to the delicate balance between news and advertising—between unpaid and revenue-producing space—in their columns. Last year the ratio averaged about 60-40, with news and other unpaid editorial matter filling 60 per cent of the space and display and classified advertising the remainder.

As to boosting advertising rates, many newspapers have hiked their rates several times since the war. The weightiest argument in favor of higher rates is the unquestioned impact of newspaper advertising on retail sales.

Boosts in newsstand and subscription rates appear to be encountering greater publisher resistance. Most Los Angeles papers, however, have now been raised to 10 cents a copy for weekday editions and in the east the Macy chain of eight Westchester County dailies recently increased the newsstand price to seven cents.

To Spur Search

The Canadian price increase is expected to spur the search for other sources of newsprint. As costs mounted in recent years, publishers began to explore the possibility of producing newsprint from such raw materials as sugar cane waste ("bagasse"), straw and grass, and American hardwoods, rather than from the soft spruce timber which abounds in Canada's forests.

The appetite of American newspapers for newsprint is voracious. The ANPA has estimated that by 1960 our newspapers will be devouring newsprint at the rate of 7 million tons a year. American consumption last year was 5,974,865 tons compared with 5,936,941 tons in 1950 and 5,929,206 tons in 1949.

Approximately nine-tenths of the newsprint used in the U. S. is imported from Canada, and the dominion product sets the market price. Conversely, about 89 per cent of Canada's total newsprint output is sold in this country.

The latest price hike is significantly different from the previous post-war increases. While the previous boosts were inevitably accompanied by a corresponding increase in the price to Canadian publishers, this time the price Canadian newspapers will pay remains unchanged (at about $112 a ton).

One reason may be found—according to the Canadian producers—in the shrinking value of the American dollar in terms of the Canadian dollar, which used to be obtainable at a discount of ten per cent but is now exchangeable for the American counterpart at slightly above par.

Canadian newsprint producers complain they are losing about $10 a ton at the current price because of the relative decline in the value of the U. S. dollar.

Back to Work . . .

tailed. British overseas aircraft called off two weekly flights to Europe and the Australian-owned Qantas Empires Airways has eliminated its flight from Sydney to Hong Kong.

The Hong Kong government has cut its allotments of aviation gasoline for the next month by 35 per cent.

Flights in Europe have been trimmed by some companies and civil aviation in Germany was cut by two-thirds.

A restriction against fuel for agricultural and forest protection flying purposes was eased yesterday. The fuel, however, is lower octane than regular aviation gasoline.

Would Refuse Any

cases, but that as the nominee he would support the platform to be adopted at the party convention in July.

FEPC would outlaw job discrimination against Negroes and other minorities. It is engrained in the civil rights plank which caused a southern revolt at the 1948 convention and cost President Truman 39 electoral votes.

A third announced candidate for the Democratic nomination, W. Averell Harriman of New York, director of the government's foreign aid program, is scheduled to make an extemporaneous speech to the convention.

Truman will address the ADA delegates tonight (9:30 p. m., E.S.T.). They look for him to discuss campaign issues and doubt he will express a preference at this time for any candidate.

Rhode Island Man Killed by Shotgun

West Warwick, R. I., May 17 (AP)—Blasts from a shotgun early today killed a roadhouse operator reportedly identified recently as a participant in the unsolved $1,219,000 Brink's robbery in Boston 28 months ago.

Police Chief Hector Groleau said the slug filled body of Carlton M. O'Brien, 49, was found on the walk in front of his home by his wife.

Groleau theorized the slaying occurred about 3 a. m. (EST) as neighbors heard what sounded like two shots about that hour.

A high official, who firmly declined use of his name, said O'Brien had been named in connection with the spectacular Brink's holdup by Alfred A. Gagnon, 41, of Pawtucket, an inmate of Rhode Island State Prison at Howard.

Gagnon was quizzed May 14 at Howard by Attorneys General Francis E. Kelly of Massachusetts and William E. Powers of Rhode Island.

Neither was available for comment today. The FBI refused comment on the slaying of the man they were scheduled to talk with this afternoon.

Providence, R. I., police listed O'Brien as a public enemy.

They say his record goes back to 1921 and included a charge of assault with intent to kill in South Dartmouth, Mass., in 1927. In 1931 he was questioned about an unsolved slaying and in 1932 he was interrogated in connection with a kidnaping, police said.

Eisenhower Polls

Republican—Eisenhower, 45,351; Warren, 10,399; Gen. Douglas MacArthur, 5,332; Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, 2,371; Sen. Robert A. Taft (write-in), 1,205; Harold E. Stassen, 1,930; William R. Schneider, 185.

The trend in both parties fully confirmed an Associated Press survey of Oregon newsmen a week before election. The poll placed Eisenhower and Warren one-two in the Republican race and Kefauver as the odds-on choice in the Democratic.

Eisenhower's showing as a vote-getter and his increase in delegate strength bolstered his race for the GOP presidential nomination.

Project Rivals A-Bomb

Dallas, May 17 (AP)—A project rivaling the atomic bomb in importance is being developed by Columbia University, an official of the university believes. Dr. Grayson Kirk, acting president of Columbia in the absence of General Dwight D. Eisenhower, said here last night the work is being done for the U. S. Navy. He spoke before a meeting of Columbia's alumni chapter. Columbia pioneered work on the atomic bomb a little over a decade ago, he said.

Says Once Is Okay

Berkeley, Calif., May 17 (AP)—"Any dog should be entitled to bite another dog once," is Municipal Judge Redmond C. Staats ruling. He turned down Mrs. Harriet Allison's petition for $25 damages for injuries her spaniel suffered from the teeth of Patsy, a neighbor's shepherd. It would have been different, though, if Patsy had taken a second bite, the judge added.

'Lived Like Eagles'

Washington, May 17 (AP)—Two Japanese die-hards who hid for eight years on Saipan Island in the Pacific are described as having "lived like eagles"—on a diet of snails, eels and rats. Both thrived on their Robinson Crusoe-like experience which began late in World War 2 and ended with their capture a few days ago.

Captures Bee Swarm On Pierpont Street

Police received a call from a resident at 112 Pierpont street at 1:50 p. m. yesterday reporting that some children were poking a stick into a swarm of bees.

Officers Thomas W. Tomshaw and Frank E. Sammons investigated and found the bees in a tree about four feet from the ground "in the form of a large ham." C. Edward Rowe of Rowe's Apiary, now in its 20th year as a pollination service for orchard men, was notified and captured the bees.

Asked today how long it took to catch the bees, Mrs. Rowe told The Freeman that in this case it required only "about five minutes."

Asked if the bees, hanging together in a ball, were just dumped into a sack, Mrs. Rowe laughed and replied, "Well, something like that."

She said that much depended on factors, such as the weather, pointing out that if it was cool and drizzly the bees just seemed "to want to wander" and it might take longer to catch them.

WOODSTOCK

By Richard E. Thibaut, Jr.

Bank Highlights Are Featured in Window Display

Woodstock, May 17—Highlights in the history of the Bank of Orange County are featured in a window display at the new Woodstock branch which opened at 9 a. m. today.

In addition to a number of documents pertaining to the bank, deeds of property in Orange county and several photographs of the various bank buildings which have housed the institution since its founding in 1812 in Goshen, the original "money truck" of the bank is on exhibition. In the early days of the bank it was the custom to send money to and from New York and Goshen in the "money truck" by stagecoach in the custody of a bank officer armed with at least two guns. "This picturesque bank official," according to the bank officials, "kept the 'money truck' under constant surveillance during the jorney. These were the pioneer days of stagecoach holdups!"

On one occasion this money truck while on a stagecoach journey to New York, in the custody of Ambrose Spencer Murray, then the president of the bank, was snatched by a thief who made off with it. Murray gave chase, apprehended the thief and retrieved the money truck. The money truck is of old weathered wood, about the size of the traditional sea chest, and is studded with leather and hobnails, and identified with the initials, ASM, of the second president.

Although antique in appearance, the other item which shares the window with the "money truck" is the "draft wheel," a large hollow drum with a hand crank. It was used in Goshen to draft soldiers for the Union Army in 1863, and was presented to the Goshen Library and Historical Society by A. S. Murray, Jr., Russell Murray and Dr. F. W. Murray. The Bank of Orange County has been the custodian of the original "draft wheel," which "like its modern counterparts was none too popular in some quarters." The original law provided for the "drawing" or selection of draftees at a public ceremony as a protection against favoritism.

Also included in the exhibit is the original delegate's badge of A. S. Murray, second president of the bank, to the second national Republican convention. The convention was held in Baltimore June 8, 1864, and nominated Abraham Lincoln to succeed himself as president and Andrew Johnson for vice-president. Murray, as the badge indicates, was a pro-Lincoln delegate. Andrew Johnson and Robert E. Lee were visitors, according to the old register, at the Mead Mountain House, here in August 1869.

The window display has been designed and arranged by John Pike and Jerry Jerominek, who has also make the signs for the bank building.

Service Planned

Woodstock, May 17—The public is invited to attend the special church services at the Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church to be held for the Rondout Commandery 52, Knights Templar, Sunday, at 8 p. m. The Rev. Harvey I. Todd will be the speaker. Invitations to the service have been extended to Saugerties Lodge, Rondout Lodge and Kingston 10 of F & AM and the Woodstock Masonic Square Club.

C of C Will Hold Open Membership Meeting Monday

The first open membership meeting of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce for the new fiscal year will be held 8 o'clock, Monday evening, May 19, at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Chamber President Lawrence J. MacAvery, stated today that this open meeting is being held at the request of members. Only brief reports will be given, but every member present will have the opportunity to ask questions and make suggestions.

"The Kingston Chamber of Commerce is organized solely for the purpose of promoting Kingston by means of a program arranged by various committees," MacAvery said, "and if we do not receive suggestions from members, the Board of Directors, upon recommendations from various committees, do the best job they can in the best interests of Kingston, and the area."

"We have just completed a very successful fiscal year, which ended April 30th; both financially and activity-wise," the president said. "A larger and more active membership is the only way we can expand and carry on a still more effective program," he continued.

All members and prospective members are invited to the meeting Monday night. "No effort of any kind will be made to collect dues Monday night." MacAvery said, "but all persons interested in asking any questions about the Kingston Chamber of Commerce are invited to attend."

$1,000,000 Oil

Station, local companies and oil firm squads.

Evacuation Asked

Police asked residents of a large Negro housing unit to evacuate the area and some of the 300 families moved out as the fire sent flames billowing high into the air. Thick black smoke added to the scene of destruction.

The low-cost housing unit's nearest structures are about 100 yards from the blazing oil and kerosene, but most of the houses closest to the fire are unoccupied. Three or four of them caught fire but were quickly extinguished.

While more foamite was awaited from Houston, the firemen kept nearby structures wetted down to allay the danger of igniting. Steam was forced into stills and tanks at the adjacent Southwestern Oil & Refinery Company's refinery.

The nearest corner of the refinery was just over 100 yards from the fire.

Late reports from the scene said it was "possible" the fire would spread to the residential area and to the refinery. Another large 80,000 gallon tank, the Corpus Christi Galler-Times said, might blow up "any minute."

Not Affected by Strike

Southwestern Refinery officials refused to estimate the damage but oilmen said it easily would reach $1,000,000.

Neither the refinery or the tank farm are affected by the present strike of the Oil Workers International Union (CIO).

The blaze is Texas' third big oil fire within a few days. A refinery at Houston burned and a Fort Worth & Denver City Railway accident at Corsicana set fire to several cars of gasoline and oil earlier in the week.

Several Hundred

the schools enjoy themselves but persons who were not graduates of a Kingston school thoroughly enjoyed the spectacle and apparent delight of the "old grads" as they met and greeted classmates who had obviously not been seen for many years.

Three Attend for Class of '88

One of the classes which was outstanding was that of 1888. Of the 17 members of Ulster Academy who graduated that year, three were represented at the reunion. They were Frederick Coykendall of New York, Mrs. S. E. Eighmey and Mrs. Herbert P. Stickles of Kingston.

At the municipal stadium the graduate groups of the four schools paraded to the stands where, as they appeared before the crowded stand, each class was presented and many outstanding members of the classes were introduced. Numbering among the members were mayors of distant cities, high officers in the armed forces, business men and women in many professions and numbering among them officials of some of the country's most successful corporations.

Classes Are Entertained

In addition to several groups holding luncheons at the hotels at noon the class of Kingston Academy 1902 was received at a reception at the Governor Clinton Hotel at 3:30. Judge Bernard A. Culloton entertained the class of 1905 of Ulster Academy at noon luncheon at the hotel. The Kingston Academy class of 1910 held a luncheon at the hotel. At the Stuyvesant Hotel at noon Dr. Saul Goldfarb entertained the class of 1929 of Kingston High School at luncheon. The class of Kingston Academy 1903 was entertained at luncheon at the Governor Clinton Hotel at noon by the chairman, Harry Ensign. Friday evening members of the class of 1909 of Kingston Academy were entertained at a reception at the home of Samuel D. Scudder, Jr. Scudder was the composer of the old Kingston Academy school song. There were also numerous cocktail parties and informal luncheons, receptions and gatherings in homes throughout the city.

Robber Repents

New York, May 17 (AP)—Two hours after he slugged a 67-year-old woman and robbed her apartment, a young man last night called back on a dime pay phone and asked for his victim, Mrs. Fannie Belleson. Her daughter, Mrs. Kate Landsdorf, took the call and reported he told her: "I'm the young fellow who robbed your mother. I'm sorry. I hope I didn't hurt her. I had to do it. I'm hungry. I'm an orphan. I come from an Oklahoma reform school."

Newsprint Hike

livered in New York to an all-time high of $126 a ton.

In the depression years of the early 30's newsprint cost $40 a ton. It was $50 a ton at the time of Pearl Harbor.

Here's what's happened since:

In 1946 the price mounted to $84. The next year it climbed to $90, and reached $100 by the end of 1948. A further increase in 1950 raised the price to $106. It soared to $116 last July, nudging the previous high of $120 set in the early 1920's.

The tightening cost squeeze on the nation's newspapers was a topic of major interest at the recent convention here of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

"Subscribers' prices have increased almost to the limit compatible with mass coverage, and advances in advertising rates are meeting resistance," the ANPA reported.

"Newspapers, caught in the middle as it were between increased and apparently ever-rising costs of operation and inability to find increasing revenue to meet those costs, are beginning to wonder what the answer may be for them—they are reluctant to say that merger and suspension is the solution."

The obvious solution, it was held, is bringing in more money and cutting costs.

To Give More Attention

Publishers are expected to give increasing attention to the delicate balance between news and advertising—between unpaid and revenue-producing space—in their columns. Last year the ratio averaged about 60-40, with news and other unpaid editorial matter filling 60 per cent of the space and display and classified advertising the remainder.

As to boosting advertising rates, many newspapers have hiked their rates several times since the war. The weightiest argument in favor of higher rates is the unquestioned impact of newspaper advertising on retail sales.

Boosts in newsstand and subscription rates appear to be encountering greater publisher resistance. Most Los Angeles papers, however, have now been raised to 10 cents a copy for weekday editions and in the east the Macy chain of eight Westchester County dailies recently increased the newsstand price to seven cents.

To Spur Search

The Canadian price increase is expected to spur the search for other sources of newsprint. As costs mounted in recent years, publishers began to explore the possibility of producing newsprint from such raw materials as sugar cane waste ("bagasse"), straw and grass, and American hardwoods, rather than from the soft spruce timber which abounds in Canada's forests.

The appetite of American newspapers for newsprint is voracious. The ANPA has estimated that by 1960 our newspapers will be devouring newsprint at the rate of 7 million tons a year. American consumption last year was 5,974,865 tons compared with 5,936,941 tons in 1950 and 5,929,206 tons in 1949.

Approximately nine-tenths of the newsprint used in the U. S. is imported from Canada, and the dominion product sets the market price. Conversely, about 89 per cent of Canada's total newsprint output is sold in this country.

The latest price hike is significantly different from the previous post-war increases. While the previous boosts were inevitably accompanied by a corresponding increase in the price to Canadian publishers, this time the price Canadian newspapers will pay remains unchanged (at about $112 a ton).

One reason may be found—according to the Canadian producers—in the shrinking value of the American dollar in terms of the Canadian dollar, which used to be obtainable at a discount of ten per cent but is now exchangeable for the American counterpart at slightly above par.

Canadian newsprint producers complain they are losing about $10 a ton at the current price because of the relative decline in the value of the U. S. dollar.

Back to Work . . .

tailed. British overseas aircraft called off two weekly flights to Europe and the Australian-owned Qantas Empires Airways has eliminated its flight from Sydney to Hong Kong.

The Hong Kong government has cut its allotments of aviation gasoline for the next month by 35 per cent.

Flights in Europe have been trimmed by some companies and civil aviation in Germany was cut by two-thirds.

A restriction against fuel for agricultural and forest protection flying purposes was eased yesterday. The fuel, however, is lower octane than regular aviation gasoline.

Would Refuse Any

cases, but that as the nominee he would support the platform to be adopted at the party convention in July.

FEPC would outlaw job discrimination against Negroes and other minorities. It is engrained in the civil rights plank which caused a southern revolt at the 1948 convention and cost President Truman 39 electoral votes.

A third announced candidate for the Democratic nomination, W. Averell Harriman of New York, director of the government's foreign aid program, is scheduled to make an extemporaneous speech to the convention.

Truman will address the ADA delegates tonight (9:30 p. m., E.S.T.). They look for him to discuss campaign issues and doubt he will express a preference at this time for any candidate.

Rhode Island Man Killed by Shotgun

West Warwick, R. I., May 17 (AP)—Blasts from a shotgun early today killed a roadhouse operator reportedly identified recently as a participant in the unsolved $1,219,000 Brink's robbery in Boston 28 months ago.

Police Chief Hector Groleau said the slug filled body of Carlton M. O'Brien, 49, was found on the walk in front of his home by his wife.

Groleau theorized the slaying occurred about 3 a. m. (EST) as neighbors heard what sounded like two shots about that hour.

A high official, who firmly declined use of his name, said O'Brien had been named in connection with the spectacular Brink's holdup by Alfred A. Gagnon, 41, of Pawtucket, an inmate of Rhode Island State Prison at Howard.

Gagnon was quizzed May 14 at Howard by Attorneys General Francis E. Kelly of Massachusetts and William E. Powers of Rhode Island.

Neither was available for comment today. The FBI refused comment on the slaying of the man they were scheduled to talk with this afternoon.

Providence, R. I., police listed O'Brien as a public enemy.

They say his record goes back to 1921 and included a charge of assault with intent to kill in South Dartmouth, Mass., in 1927. In 1931 he was questioned about an unsolved slaying and in 1932 he was interrogated in connection with a kidnaping, police said.

Eisenhower Polls

candidates from 970 precincts:

Republican—Eisenhower, 45,351; Warren, 10,399; Gen. Douglas MacArthur, 5,332; Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, 2,371; Sen. Robert A. Taft (write-in), 1,205; Harold E. Stassen, 1,930; William R. Schneider, 185.

The trend in both parties fully confirmed an Associated Press survey of Oregon newsmen a week before election. The poll placed Eisenhower and Warren one-two in the Republican race and Kefauver as the odds-on choice in the Democratic.

Eisenhower's showing as a vote-getter and his increase in delegate strength bolstered his race for the GOP presidential nomination.
